Housing Bill Vetoed By Ike

Measure Hit As Unsound By President

Johnson Criticizes Eisenhower's "All Or Nothing Attitude"

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, as expected, vetoed Tuesday a $1,375,000,000 housing bill, branding it extravagant and inflationary. He asked that Congress act quickly to give him "a sound and constructive bill."

What Congress will do about it was not indicated, as Democratic sponsors of the legislation busily did a bit of pulse feeling to guide their future actions. It seemed unlikely they could muster enough votes to override the veto.

However, the Senate Democratic leader, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, left open the way for such an effort by saying Eisenhower had taken an ill advised, politically partisan course.

"All Or Nothing Attitude"

Criticizing what he called Eisenhower's "all or nothing attitude," Johnson said: "I do not believe this kind of attitude will appeal to reasonable men and women."

Eisenhower told Congress that with new homes being built at near record rates he had been looking forward for many months to approving legislation along the lines he recommended last January. What he wanted, the President said, was a bill "that would further advance the cause of better housing for Americans within the limits of fiscal responsibility."

"To my disappointment," his veto message said, "the Congress has instead presented me with a bill so excessive in the spending it proposes and so defective in other respects, that it would do far more damage than good."

Urban Renewal Plan Rapped

Placing emphasis on the costliness of the legislation, Eisenhower said "much of the spending it authorizes is unnecessary."

He especially criticized the 900-million-dollar urban renewal or slum clearance program as excessive and listed as unnecessary 190,000 additional public housing units, a housing program for elderly persons, expansion of the college housing loan program and a new college classroom program.

Also, Eisenhower said, under the bill the government could be obligated by at least an additional 2½ billion dollars. This, he said, compared to the administration's budget recommendation of 810 million dollars.

Senate Trims Ike's Arms Aid Program

$300 Million Slash Voted As 'Revolt' Grows

12 Republicans, 40 Demos Support Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate administered a sharp rebuff to President Eisenhower Tuesday by cutting 300 million dollars from the $1,600,000,000 he requested for arms aid to America's free world allies.

It did so by a 52-41 roll call vote which saw foreign aid supporters of previous years join the rebellion against the program of military and economic assistance abroad.

The cut had the support of 40 Democrats and 12 Republicans, with 19 Democrats and 22 Republicans against it. The action brought the totals in the bill down from the $3,909,400,000 Eisenhower asked to $3,624,820,000 for the fiscal year that started July 1.

Vote Has Reflections

The vote reflected, among other things, Democratic resentment against Eisenhower's veto of the omnibus housing bill earlier in the day. Eisenhower called that bill extravagant and inflationary.

And it reflected growing sentiment in Congress that the administration is placing too heavy an emphasis on military aid rather than on economic assistance.

In the background too was a desire on the part of some to repay the President for his part in blocking a Senate Foreign Relations Committee-backed five-year, five-billion-dollar program of economic development loans to be financed by borrowings from the Treasury.

Sponsors of the development loan plan insisted that an Eisenhower-backed substitute calling for a two-year, two-billion-dollar program to be financed by congressional appropriations would fail to meet the need since the program lacks support in the House Appropriations Committee.

Military Aid Shift Voted

Going into a night session, the Senate adopted, by a 56-37 roll call vote, an amendment to take military assistance out of the foreign aid bill and shift it to the regular Defense Department budget. Eisenhower has advocated this.

Offered by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn), the amendment would—if accepted by the House—provide the President with a permanent blanket authorization for military aid beginning next year.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Foreign Relations Committee argued against the arms aid cut, provided for in an amendment sponsored by Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La). But it won a surprising majority following the 55-38 defeat of another Ellender amendment to slash military aid funds by 550 million dollars.

The bill's supporters rallied after the 300-million-dollar cut and defeated 53-40 another amendment by Ellender to reduce defense support from 835 million dollars to 600 million.

Planes Fail To Locate Actor Calvert's Yacht

DARWIN, Australia (UPI) —A daylong search by two Australian planes Tuesday failed to locate Sea Fox, reported in distress with Hollywood actor - magician John Calvert and seven other persons aboard.

In faint radio messages picked up by shore stations, however, skipper Calvert reported the yacht still afloat in the Arafura Sea although the pumps had broken down and the vessel was shipping water.

Calvert, who was en route from Darwin to Sydney where he was scheduled to perform, appealed urgently Monday for a pump.

Freight Wreck Fire Menaces Butane Plant

MARION, N.C. (UPI) — Twenty-six cars of a Clinchfield Railroad freight train plunged off a trestle Tuesday and 10 cars filled with alcohol exploded into flames, threatening a nearby butane gas plant before the blaze was controlled.

The alcohol burned for three hours before the fire was finally brought under control. No injuries were reported.

The fire was only some 400 yards from the gas plant and authorities feared an explosion might spread the flames to the plant and nearby residences.

It was the second major train derailment in the south in recent days. A week ago Sunday, tank cars containing butane gas exploded a Seaboard Air Line Railroad freight train derailed crossing a trestle near Meldrim, Ga., and 22 persons enjoying an afternoon of fun at an adjacent recreation spot died.

Firemen from three nearby cities fought Tuesday's blaze.

"Flames were shooting 50 to 100 feet in the air when the explosions went off," said a witness, Marion fireman Carl McCall. He said the burning fuel sounded "like an airplane motor buzzing."

The trestle, of steel and wood, caught fire. An explosion sent a piece of broken track hurtling into a nearby depot.

Some of the cars piled up and others were strewn at angles along 500 feet of broken track.

Live Polio Vaccine Needs Further Trials

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Foundation's Vaccine Advisory Committee said Tuesday mass vaccination with live virus polio vaccine is unwise at the present time.

Although a live virus vaccine developed by Dr. Albert B. Sabin of the University of Cincinnati shows promise for the future, it requires further field trials in the United States and abroad, the commitee said.

Boy Fugitives Captured, Girl Hostage Safe

Trio Escapes From W.Va. Reform School

PRUNTYTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Three young reform school toughs kidnaped the superintendent's secretary Tuesday and escaped in her car. She was rescued unharmed and her abductors were captured within a few hours.

Sandra McKeen, 18, was surprised by the three youths as she returned from a lunch - time drive to the West Virginia boys reformatory here. They took her car and forced her to go with them.

The kidnap - escape occurred about 11:30 a.m. e.s.t. At about 3:30 p.m., State Police and Wetzel County officers captured two of the youths and rescued Miss McKeen near Reader, Wetzel County, about 65 miles northwest of here. The third youth was captured later.

"Waited, Prayed"

Miss McKeen was returned to her home at Grafton, three miles from here, for a happy reunion with her parents. Her mother and father "sat, waited and prayed" during the afternoon. Albert N. McKeen, the father, is a Baltimore & Ohio Railway engineer here.

The three youths had slipped away from a group of other prisoners being marched back to work at the shop building at the institution following lunch. Miss McKeen returned in her father's car, they overpowered her and took the car and her with it.

Officer Spots Car

The car was driven to the home area of one of the fugitives, Larry Anthony Rector, 16. But an officer spotted the vehicle on the way and a posse was organized. The capture came in the Eight-Mile Ridge area near Reader.

Captured with Rector was Patrick A. Jarrell, Columbus, Ohio. Rector was serving his second reformatory sentence for auto theft from Wetzel County. Jarrell was sentenced from Boone County for armed robbery.

The third youth, Roger Lee Moore, 16, was not with his companions at the time of the capture, but was picked up about two hours later south of New Martinsville. He was serving his second term for auto theft — one from Harrison County and one from Boone County.

Tropical Storm Cindy Develops

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical storm Cindy, the season's third, formed Tuesday over the Atlantic Ocean nearly 200 miles from the coast of the Carolinas.

The U.S. Weather Bureau ordered storm warnings and a hurricane watch between Cape Hatteras, N.C., and Charleston, S.C., and recommended all persons in the area be ready for quick action in event a hurricane warning is issued.

An advisory from Gordon Dunn, forecaster at the U.S. Weather Bureau at Miami, said Cindy assumed tropical storm characteristics during the day and at 6:30 p.m. was located by air reconnaissance 190 miles east of Charleston, S.C.

U.S. Governors Greeted By Affable Khrushchev

MOSCOW (UPI) — Nikita S. Khrushchev told seven visiting American state governors Tuesday that Russia wants to be like their "big, rich and strong country"—although the United States is sometimes "selfish."

The Soviet premier warmly greeted the state executives and brought them into his Kremlin office for a three-hour and 35-minute conference. Immediately afterward, the governors went to a reception tendered by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson.

The governors towered over their five-foot-five host.

"All Americans are tall," Khrushchev smiled. "I have to look up to them and get to their level."

In a greeting before their private conference with him, Khrushchev stressed the economic competition between the United States and Russia.

The U.S., he said, is a "big rich and strong country, we want ourselves to be like you."

But some Americans "complain we want to catch up with you. Can it be that you want to eat too much yourselves and prevent us from eating as much as you do?

"That is a selfish approach.

"We don't want to deprive you of anything. We want to produce what you produce. Any increase of (Russian) production doesn't mean a decrease of production and consumption in your country," he said.

Smiling, the premier said, "I shall desist from making any more attacks and welcome you again."

Steelworkers Carry Dispute Direct To Nixon

NEW YORK (UPI) —Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald took the steel dispute to the Eisenhower administration for the second time Tuesday with a warning to Vice President Richard M. Nixon that a nationwide steel strike July 14 appeared inevitable.

McDonald left the bargaining table here for an unannounced, hastily - arranged meeting with Nixon in Pittsburgh. Nixon also met with industry leader Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the Iron and Steel Institute, and said he would report on his two talks to President Eisenhower.

The McDonald - Nixon conference brought angry industry charges that the union leader had disrupted negotiations and wasted precious time by leaving negotiations here.

"All of these maneuvers obviously are designed to try and shift the union's responsibility to our shoulders and to escape his own accountability for the strike he apparently intends to force upon the nation," said R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of the U.S. Steel Corp. and industry's chief negotiator.

McDonald said on his return to New York from his overnight air trip to Pittsburgh that he told Nixon on an hour-long talk that the union had done all it could to try to negotiate a contract covering 500,000 basic steel workers.

He said he warned Nixon no settlement could be reached unless industry relaxed its "recalcitrant" stand against granting any wage increases that would result in price rises.

McDonald said he told Nixon there was no possibility of a second contract extension to prevent a strike next week "unless I see the possibility of reaching a new labor contract."

Nixon, who was in Pittsburgh for the All-Star baseball game, for the second time since the steel dispute began found himself in the role of a sort of informal mediator. He and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell were instrumental in getting a two-week extension of the original June 30 strike deadline.

Colin P. Kelly III Enters West Point

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Colin P. Kelly III, 19, son of the first American hero of World War II, entered the U.S. Military Academy Tuesday.

The slender, red-haired youth went through a busy day of uniform fitting, processing, introduction to close-order drill, and the regulation West Point haircut.

Kelly's father, Colin P. Kelly Jr., was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for his attack on a Japanese battleship three days after Pearl Harbor. Young Kelly's appointment to West Point was made by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Kelly was one of 732 "new cadets" who will begin seven weeks of basic training. Those who survive training become cadets Aug. 20. Kelly will be a member of the class of 1963. His father was graduated from West Point in 1937.

Ruse, Tear Gas Quells Convicts

Escape Bid Fails; Hostages Freed

MONROE, Wash. (UPI) — A successful trick and a blast of tear gas Tuesday ended the escape attempt of four convicts who had threatened death with butcher knives to 38 hostages including women and children.

After 14 hours of terror the hostages were rescued unharmed and the Washington State Reformatory convicts, who had threatened to mutilate or murder the hostages if they were not given a getaway car, were back behind bars.

The convicts delivered their ultimatum before dawn:

We'll start throwing out bodies at 6 o'clock!" One of them screamed at reformatory superintendent Ernest Timpani.

Timpani announced, "we're going in after them at 4 o'clock".

By this time the hostages, who had been seized at 2:40 p. m. on Monday in the visitors' room at the reformatory, were lying down asleep or resting.

The hostages were 24 visitors, 11 inmates and 3 guards. Among the visitors were 7 children, 11 women and 6 men. Two more hostages, Mrs. Bruce Oxford and her son Bobby, 4, were released Monday Night.

The convicts were told that Dr. Garrett Heyns, director of state institutions, wanted to talk to them. Heyns actually was at his office in Olympia.

Lt. William McKelvey went to the window of the door to the visitors' room. The window had been smashed. The convict ringleaders, Richard Murry, 20, and Robert Jasmin, 23, came to the window.

Murry and Jasmin were armed with knives and Timpani believed if he got them he could handle the others.

As the two convicts came to the window correctional officer John Martin fired a tear gas shell into their faces at close range.

McKelvey reached through the window and opened the door. He and three husky officers rushed in, with 10 other officers backing them up.

Jasmin ran and ducked into a closet. Another tear gas shell blasted him out. The officers swarmed over them and beat them to the floor. All four came out with bloody noses.

The other two convicts were David K. Owens, 18, and Donald De Courcey, 22. De Courcey was hospitalized but his injuries were slight.

Committee OKs Defense Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee Tuesday approved a 40 billion dollar defense money bill for the fiscal year that started July 1. It sticks pretty close to the overhauled version carved out by a subcommittee a week ago.

Included in this biggest of the yearly spending bills was $39,594,349,000 of new cash plus authority to transfer 450 million dollars in funds previously voted. The bill contains 345 million dollars more cash and 121 million more in transfer funds than President Eisenhower asked.

It provides 746 million dollars more in new cash and 29 million more in transfer than the House voted.

The bill puts added emphasis on both long-range missiles and forces for limited wars, ignoring recommendations by both Eisenhower and Pentagon leaders.

A move by Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) to boost the size of the Army to 900,000 from the planned ceiling of 870,000 was beaten by an 11-7 vote. It would have added 132 mililon dollars to the bill.

Mystery Barrel Not Radioactive

WASHINGTON (AP) — That mysterious barrel washed up on the Oregon coast Saturday contained no radioactivity, the Atomic Energy Commission reported Tuesday night. It indicated the whole thing might have been a hoax.

The barrel was found bobbing in the waves near the southern Oregon coastal town of Port Orford. It was painted white and bore the stenciled words: "Danger—Radioactive Waste. AEC."

The Coast Guard could detect no radiation from the barrel in preliminary tests. The AEC took it to Richland, Wash., for a thorough check.

Four York, Pa., Boys Drowning Victims

YORK, Pa. (UPI) — Four young York, Pa., boys, three of them brothers, drowned Tuesday afternoon when they went wading in the Susquehanna River at the village of Saginaw, about 12 miles northeast of York, Pa.

State Police identified the victims as Michael S. Swartz, 7, and Maurice, 11, James, 9, and John Archdeacon, 7,.

According to the troopers, the boys went wading in the river, stepped into a hole and drowned. There were no witnesses.

Gov. Long Appears Unable To Rally From Exhaustion

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Ailing Gov. Earl K. Long appeared unable to rally Tuesday from a deep physical exhaustion. For the first time, his friends as well as his doctors showed concern.

"If he agrees to take a long rest, he might be all right," said House Speaker Robert Angelle, after a visit to the governor's mansion. "All we are hoping for is for the man to get well."

At least three doctors were in attendance on the 63-year-old Long during the day, two of them mental experts. Long was released from a mental institution June 26 and five days later suffered a heart failure.

Long returned to the capital here Monday, apparently intent on resuming his administration of state affairs. But periods of sleepiness kept him confined to the executive mansion.

He signed a few papers that needed his immediate attention. But he made no apparent effort to tackle the load of administrative work facing him after his five-weeks absence from the capital. And he called off a news conference.

Long undertook a strenuous Fourth of July stump tour against the advice of his doctors to open his campaign for re-election. The 300-mile trek in 98-degree heat apparently sapped his strength considerably.

He has as his guest at present David Rankin, 14, from Texas City, Tex. The two became friends and played poker and checkers during Long's confinement for two weeks in a Galveston, Tex., clinic, where he was forcibly incarcerated May 30. Long later was transferred to a Louisiana state mental institution before his final release.

Kozlov Pushes "Peace" Drive On Detroit Tour

DETROIT (AP)—Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov appealed to an elite group of American businessmen for peaceful relations between the United States and the Soviet Union. This, he said, would secure peace in the whole world.

Kozlov made the appeal sound like a renewed plea for a summit conference, although he did not mention a heads of government meeting. At the same time his address seemed to indicate Moscow once again is attempting to circulate the idea of an arrangement between the United States and the Soviet Union, exclusive of other countries.

The Soviet leader addressed a luncheon in his honor at the Detroit Athletic Club. It was part of his whirlwind one-day tour of this automotive capital.

But the stop here, which was at his request, gave him an opportunity to study and discuss on the spot the methods of American capitalism and it provided him with a platform to push his campaign for expanded trade relations.

Kozlov was introduced by Walker L. Cisler, president of Detroit Edison Co. and official host for the Detroit tour.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev's right hand man in the Soviet government said: "Neither you nor we conceal the differences existing between our two social systems. This certainly should not hinder the establishment of cultural relations and the expansion of economic ties between our two countries."

Khrushchev Talk 'Blunt, Brutal,' Harriman Says

NEW YORK (AP)—W. Averell Harriman says Nikita Khrushchev's language in their recent Moscow talk was "blunt and brutal," with the Soviet Premier saying about the Berlin situation: "If you want war, you can have it."

Harriman gives his account in an article he wrote for Life magazine. The former New York governor saw Khrushchev at the Kremlin June 23 and also at the Premier's house outside Moscow.

Chessman Near End Of Road?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —The California Supreme Court unanimously affirmed the death sentence of author - rapist Caryl Chessman who has successfully avoided San Quentin's gas chamber for 11 years.

Tuesday's decision may mark the end of the road for the 37-year-old prisoner who has already carried his case to the U.S. Supreme Court seven times.

Deputy State Atty. Gen. Arlo E. Smith said last week that Chessman has exhausted almost every possible grounds for an appeal since his conviction on 17 felonies, including two kidnap-rapes.

The high court rejected numerous arguments put forward by Chessman. The principal one was that the transcript of his original trial was faulty.

The court reporter during his trial, E. R. Perry, died before he had a chance to transcribe his notes. Chessman claimed it was impossible for another reporter to do so accurately.

King Midas' Tomb May Soon Be Opened

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Dr. Rodney S. Young of the University of Pennsylvania Museum may soon break open the tomb of the fabulous King Midas, the foolish monarch with the golden touch.

Young and his staff are supervising excavations by a bulldozer and a crew of 150 peasants from nearby villages at Gordion, capital of ancient Phrygia.

The city, 70 miles southeast of Ankara at the junction of the Sakarya and Porsuk Rivers, is where King Midas had his palace.

Legend says Midas wished everything he touched turn to gold and when his food turned to gold he begged off.

Steelworkers Carry Dispute Direct To Nixon

NEW YORK (UPI) —Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald took the steel dispute to the Eisenhower administration for the second time Tuesday with a warning to Vice President Richard M. Nixon that a nationwide steel strike July 14 appeared inevitable.

McDonald left the bargaining table here for an unannounced, hastily - arranged meeting with Nixon in Pittsburgh. Nixon also met with industry leader Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the Iron and Steel Institute, and said he would report on his two talks to President Eisenhower.

The McDonald - Nixon conference brought angry industry charges that the union leader had disrupted negotiations and wasted precious time by leaving negotiations here.

"All of these maneuvers obviously are designed to try and shift the union's responsibility to our shoulders and to escape his own accountability for the strike he apparently intends to force upon the nation," said R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of the U.S. Steel Corp. and industry's chief negotiator.

McDonald said on his return to New York from his overnight air trip to Pittsburgh that he told Nixon on an hour-long talk that the union had done all it could to try to negotiate a contract covering 500,000 basic steel workers.

He said he warned Nixon no settlement could be reached unless industry relaxed its "recalcitrant" stand against granting any wage increases that would result in price rises.

McDonald said he told Nixon there was no possibility of a second contract extension to prevent a strike next week "unless I see the possibility of reaching a new labor contract."

Nixon, who was in Pittsburgh for the All-Star baseball game, for the second time since the steel dispute began found himself in the role of a sort of informal mediator. He and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell were instrumental in getting a two-week extension of the original June 30 strike deadline.

Colin P. Kelly III Enters West Point

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Colin P. Kelly III, 19, son of the first American hero of World War II, entered the U.S. Military Academy Tuesday.

The slender, red-haired youth went through a busy day of uniform fitting, processing, introduction to close-order drill, and the regulation West Point haircut.

Kelly's father, Colin P. Kelly Jr., was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for his attack on a Japanese battleship three days after Pearl Harbor. Young Kelly's appointment to West Point was made by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Kelly was one of 732 "new cadets" who will begin seven weeks of basic training. Those who survive training become cadets Aug. 20. Kelly will be a member of the class of 1963. His father was graduated from West Point in 1937.

Ruse, Tear Gas Quells Convicts

Escape Bid Fails; Hostages Freed

MONROE, Wash. (UPI) — A successful trick and a blast of tear gas Tuesday ended the escape attempt of four convicts who had threatened death with butcher knives to 38 hostages including women and children.

After 14 hours of terror the hostages were rescued unharmed and the Washington State Reformatory convicts, who had threatened to mutilate or murder the hostages if they were not given a getaway car, were back behind bars.

The convicts delivered their ultimatum before dawn:

We'll start throwing out bodies at 6 o'clock!" One of them screamed at reformatory superintendent Ernest Timpani.

Timpani announced, "we're going in after them at 4 o'clock".

By this time the hostages, who had been seized at 2:40 p. m. on Monday in the visitors' room at the reformatory, were lying down asleep or resting.

The hostages were 24 visitors, 11 inmates and 3 guards. Among the visitors were 7 children, 11 women and 6 men. Two more hostages, Mrs. Bruce Oxford and her son Bobby, 4, were released Monday Night.

The convicts were told that Dr. Garrett Heyns, director of state institutions, wanted to talk to them. Heyns actually was at his office in Olympia.

Lt. William McKelvey went to the window of the door to the visitors' room. The window had been smashed. The convict ringleaders, Richard Murry, 20, and Robert Jasmin, 23, came to the window.

Murry and Jasmin were armed with knives and Timpani believed if he got them he could handle the others.

As the two convicts came to the window correctional officer John Martin fired a tear gas shell into their faces at close range.

McKelvey reached through the window and opened the door. He and three husky officers rushed in, with 10 other officers backing them up.

Jasmin ran and ducked into a closet. Another tear gas shell blasted him out. The officers swarmed over them and beat them to the floor. All four came out with bloody noses.

The other two convicts were David K. Owens, 18, and Donald De Courcey, 22. De Courcey was hospitalized but his injuries were slight.

Committee OKs Defense Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee Tuesday approved a 40 billion dollar defense money bill for the fiscal year that started July 1. It sticks pretty close to the overhauled version carved out by a subcommittee a week ago.

Included in this biggest of the yearly spending bills was $39,594,349,000 of new cash plus authority to transfer 450 million dollars in funds previously voted. The bill contains 345 million dollars more cash and 121 million more in transfer funds than President Eisenhower asked.

It provides 746 million dollars more in new cash and 29 million more in transfer than the House voted.

The bill puts added emphasis on both long-range missiles and forces for limited wars, ignoring recommendations by both Eisenhower and Pentagon leaders.

A move by Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) to boost the size of the Army to 900,000 from the planned ceiling of 870,000 was beaten by an 11-7 vote. It would have added 132 millilon dollars to the bill.

Mystery Barrel Not Radioactive

WASHINGTON (AP) — That mysterious barrel washed up on the Oregon coast Saturday contained no radioactivity, the Atomic Energy Commission reported Tuesday night. It indicated the whole thing might have been a hoax.

The barrel was found bobbing in the waves near the southern Oregon coastal town of Port Orford. It was painted white and bore the stenciled words: "Danger—Radioactive Waste. AEC."

The Coast Guard could detect no radiation from the barrel in preliminary tests. The AEC took it to Richland, Wash., for a thorough check.

Four York, Pa., Boys Drowning Victims

YORK, Pa. (UPI) — Four young York, Pa., boys, three of them brothers, drowned Tuesday afternoon when they went wading in the Susquehanna River at the village of Saginaw, about 12 miles northeast of York, Pa.

State Police identified the victims as Michael S. Swartz, 7, and Maurice, 11, James, 9, and John Archdeacon, 7,.

According to the troopers, the boys went wading in the river, stepped into a hole and drowned. There were no witnesses.

Gov. Long Appears Unable To Rally From Exhaustion

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Ailing Gov. Earl K. Long appeared unable to rally Tuesday from a deep physical exhaustion. For the first time, his friends as well as his doctors showed concern.

"If he agrees to take a long rest, he might be all right," said House Speaker Robert Angelle, after a visit to the governor's mansion. "All we are hoping for is for the man to get well."

At least three doctors were in attendance on the 63-year-old Long during the day, two of them mental experts. Long was released from a mental institution June 26 and five days later suffered a heart failure.

Long returned to the capital here Monday, apparently intent on resuming his administration of state affairs. But periods of sleepiness kept him confined to the executive mansion.

He signed a few papers that needed his immediate attention. But he made no apparent effort to tackle the load of administrative work facing him after his five-weeks absence from the capital. And he called off a news conference.

Long undertook a strenuous Fourth of July stump tour against the advice of his doctors to open his campaign for re-election. The 300-mile trek in 98-degree heat apparently sapped his strength considerably.

He has as his guest at present David Rankin, 14, from Texas City, Tex. The two became friends and played poker and checkers during Long's confinement for two weeks in a Galveston, Tex., clinic, where he was forcibly incarcerated May 30. Long later was transferred to a Louisiana state mental institution before his final release.

Kozlov Pushes "Peace" Drive On Detroit Tour

DETROIT (AP)—Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov appealed to an elite group of American businessmen for peaceful relations between the United States and the Soviet Union. This, he said, would secure peace in the whole world.

Kozlov made the appeal sound like a renewed plea for a summit conference, although he did not mention a heads of government meeting. At the same time his address seemed to indicate Moscow once again is attempting to circulate the idea of an arrangement between the United States and the Soviet Union, exclusive of other countries.

The Soviet leader addressed a luncheon in his honor at the Detroit Athletic Club. It was part of his whirlwind one-day tour of this automotive capital.

But the stop here, which was at his request, gave him an opportunity to study and discuss on the spot the methods of American capitalism and it provided him with a platform to push his campaign for expanded trade relations.

Kozlov was introduced by Walker L. Cisler, president of Detroit Edison Co. and official host for the Detroit tour.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev's right hand man in the Soviet government said: "Neither you nor we conceal the differences existing between our two social systems. This certainly should not hinder the establishment of cultural relations and the expansion of economic ties between our two countries."

Khrushchev Talk 'Blunt, Brutal,' Harriman Says

NEW YORK (AP)—W. Averell Harriman says Nikita Khrushchev's language in their recent Moscow talk was "blunt and brutal," with the Soviet Premier saying about the Berlin situation: "If you want war, you can have it."

Harriman gives his account in an article he wrote for Life magazine. The former New York governor saw Khrushchev at the Kremlin June 23 and also at the Premier's house outside Moscow.

Measure Hit As Unsound By President

Johnson Criticizes Eisenhower's "All Or Nothing Attitude"

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, as expected, vetoed Tuesday a $1,375,000,000 housing bill, branding it extravagant and inflationary. He asked that Congress act quickly to give him "a sound and constructive bill."

What Congress will do about it was not indicated, as Democratic sponsors of the legislation busily did a bit of pulse feeling to guide their future actions. It seemed unlikely they could muster enough votes to override the veto.

However, the Senate Democratic leader, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, left open the way for such an effort by saying Eisenhower had taken an ill advised, politically partisan course.

"All Or Nothing Attitude"

Criticizing what he called Eisenhower's "all or nothing attitude," Johnson said: "I do not believe this kind of attitude will appeal to reasonable men and women."

Eisenhower told Congress that with new homes being built at near record rates he had been looking forward for many months to approving legislation along the lines he recommended last January. What he wanted, the President said, was a bill "that would further advance the cause of better housing for Americans within the limits of fiscal responsibility."

"To my disappointment," his veto message said, "the Congress has instead presented me with a bill so excessive in the spending it proposes and so defective in other respects, that it would do far more damage than good."

Urban Renewal Plan Rapped

Placing emphasis on the costliness of the legislation, Eisenhower said "much of the spending it authorizes is unnecessary."

He especially criticized the 900-million-dollar urban renewal or slum clearance program as excessive and listed as unnecessary 190,000 additional public housing units, a housing program for elderly persons, expansion of the college housing loan program and a new college classroom program.

Also, Eisenhower said, under the bill the government could be obligated by at least an additional 2½ billion dollars. This, he said, compared to the administration's budget recommendation of 810 million dollars.

Chessman Near End Of Road?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —The California Supreme Court unanimously affirmed the death sentence of author - rapist Caryl Chessman who has successfully avoided San Quentin's gas chamber for 11 years.

Tuesday's decision may mark the end of the road for the 37-year-old prisoner who has already carried his case to the U.S. Supreme Court seven times.

Deputy State Atty. Gen. Arlo E. Smith said last week that Chessman has exhausted almost every possible grounds for an appeal since his conviction on 17 felonies, including two kidnap-rapes.

The high court rejected numerous arguments put forward by Chessman. The principal one was that the transcript of his original trial was faulty.

The court reporter during his trial, E. R. Perry, died before he had a chance to transcribe his notes. Chessman claimed it was impossible for another reporter to do so accurately.

King Midas' Tomb May Soon Be Opened

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Dr. Rodney S. Young of the University of Pennsylvania Museum may soon break open the tomb of the fabulous King Midas, the foolish monarch with the golden touch.

Young and his staff are supervising excavations by a bulldozer and a crew of 150 peasants from nearby villages at Gordion, capital of ancient Phrygia.

The city, 70 miles southeast of Ankara at the junction of the Sakarya and Porsuk Rivers, is where King Midas had his palace.

Legend says Midas wished everything he touched turn to gold and when his food turned to gold he begged off.

Hoffa Undercut Locals' Demands, Probers Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Rackets Committee heard testimony Tuesday that Teamster president James R. Hoffa intervened personally to under-cut the bargaining demands of his union's eastern locals.

The testimony portrayed Hoffa as a one-man negotiating team who pared down the eastern demands at one point to prevent them from getting "out of line" with wages and conditions in his own central states area. Hoffa headed the Central Teamster Conference before becoming union president in 1957.

A management spokesman said he declined Hoffa's offer of cheaper terms than the ones the eastern locals eventually obtained because he feared acceptance would mean "underworld and mob" control of the trucking industry in the New York area.

In a related development, two teamsters from Yonkers, N.Y., said they would move for expulsion of international Vice President John T. O'Rourke for helping finance an independent local competing for members with an anti-Hoffa Teamster local.

The committee also heard Michael Communale, an assistant prosecutor from Hudson County, N.J., denounce as "utterly fantastic" charges that a trucking firm paid him $200 a month in legal fees to buy labor peace from the Teamsters.

Walter A. Dorn, president of the Dorn Transportation Co., testified Monday that he made the payments to Communale at the suggestion of Tony Provenzano, President of Teamster Local 560 in Hoboken, N.J.

Communale agreed with Dorn that he never performed any services for the firm during the six years he received the payments. But he said he considered the fees as a retainer for services he might be called on to perform some time.

Ted Daley, secretary-treasurer of Teamster Local 445 in Yonkers, who said his local's contracts are "considerably higher" than those in the central conference, told of one of the alleged Hoffa undercutting efforts.

Tawes Denies Attempting To Influence Compensation Case Involving Friend

BALTIMORE (AP) — A lawyer for an insurance firm complained Tuesday that Gov. Tawes intervened in a workmen's compensation case involving a friend from his hometown, Crisfield, Md.

J. Kemp Bartlett III, the attorney, questioned the propriety of a letter sent by Tawes to the Workmen's Compensation Commission on behalf of Michael Baltz.

Spokesmen for the governor and the commission denied there was any attempt to influence the commission's decision.

The letter, dated June 19, said Baltz had told Tawes he was unhappy with the investigation of his claim for compensation for injuries suffered while a mechanic for Morris Motors of Princess Anne. Bartlett represents the firm insuring Morris.

The governor asked Daniel T. Doherty, the commissioner hearing the case, to look into the complaint and "advise me whether or not his (Baltz') claim has been given proper consideration."

After receiving a report from Doherty, Tawes wrote the commissioner July 2 that he believed the commission's handling of the claim was satisfactory.

Bartlett complained in a letter to Tawes that neither he nor Baltz' attorney, Thomas S. Simpkins, was aware of the governor's correspondence in the case.

"It is my opinion," wrote Bartlett, "that this intervention by you, as chief executive of the State, has placed (Doherty) in a most embarrassing position."

He suggested that Tawes, if he continues "to follow a policy of intervening in pending litigation on behalf of your friends," discuss the policy with the attorney general 'and representatives of bar associations.

The governor, in commenting on Bartlett's letter, said he had asked the commission to look into Baltz' complaint that "he had been treated unfairly" and let him know the status of the case.

The status report, he said, "showed that Mr. Baltz had been given a full and fair hearing (and) everything had been done to protect Mr. Baltz' rights."

"My approach was that of one merely desiring to assure that a private citizen be given every legal consideration," said the governor's statement.

"We have closed the files on this matter. However, I would be delighted to permit any member of the press to examine it if more details are desired."

Installment Tax Plan Receives New Start

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A plan allowing Montgomery County residents to space their real estate tax payments won a new start Wednesday after being stalled for two years.

The plan, which would permit the home owner to make his payments monthly, quarterly or semi-annually, was approved in 1957, but was never drafted into an ordinance.

Now, the County Council has voted for preparation of an ordinance providing for the purchase by the taxpayer of certificates to pay his real estate tax. The ordinance will be discussed at a public hearing before action is taken.

Alex K. Hancock, county finance director, told the council the certificates would not be negotiable and would increase in value only if the taxpayer chose to pay early.

If the home owner wants to pay a large amount of his tax before the beginning of the fiscal year, he could come out ahead, Hancock said. He called the plan a great advantage "from the public relations standpoint."

Boys, 12 And 9, 'Borrow' Car, Lead Cops Chase

GRASONVILLE, Md. (AP)—R. S. Meise looked up from his lunch in a motel restaurant Wednesday to see his 1959 car going down the highway.

He shouted to motel owner Harry Hart. Hart jumped in his car and set out after Meise's, going east on U. S. 50. At Queenstown, after a four-mile chase, Hart forced the car to the side of the road.

A 12-year-old boy jumped out and ran across the fields. State Trooper Robert Williams arrived about that time and fired one warning shot into the air.

The boy stopped immediately, about 200 yards away, and waited for the trooper. In the car was another boy, 9.

He suffered a head injury when the car ripped through the guard rail and was taken to Memorial Hospital in Easton for X-rays.

Meise, a Salisbury salesman, stayed behind to call police when Hart set out on the chase. It happened at 3:30 p. m. when Meise's car was parked in the Bay Bridge Motel parking lot in Grasonville, about eight miles east of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge.

Trooper Williams said the older boy had a knife with him which he threw to the ground when the trooper approached. The boys, both from Grasonville, were released into the custody of their parents, Williams said.

Raiders Put Big Still Out Of Commission

DORSEY, Md. (AP) — A still capable of turning out 120 gallons of moonshine whisky a day was put out of commission Tuesday by federal and state raiders.

Agents said a 42-year-old farmer will be charged Wednesday before a U. S. Commissioner in Baltimore with operating the still. It was in a pine grove adjacent to the farmer's property in Howard County.

Kenneth Stewart, a state tax agent, described the still as a "North Carolina type." In this operation, steam is generated away from the still and forced into it through pipes.

Other types cook the whisky on top of a fire.

Boys, 12 And 9, 'Borrow' Car, Lead Cops Chase

GRASONVILLE, Md. (AP)—R. S. Meise looked up from his lunch in a motel restaurant Wednesday to see his 1959 car going down the highway.

He shouted to motel owner Harry Hart. Hart jumped in his car and set out after Meise's, going east on U. S. 50. At Queenstown, after a four-mile chase, Hart forced the car to the side of the road.

A 12-year-old boy jumped out and ran across the fields. State Trooper Robert Williams arrived about that time and fired one warning shot into the air.

The boy stopped immediately, about 200 yards away, and waited for the trooper. In the car was another boy, 9.

He suffered a head injury when the car ripped through the guard rail and was taken to Memorial Hospital in Easton for X-rays.

Meise, a Salisbury salesman, stayed behind to call police when Hart set out on the chase. It happened at 3:30 p. m. when Meise's car was parked in the Bay Bridge Motel parking lot in Grasonville, about eight miles east of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge.

Trooper Williams said the older boy had a knife with him which he threw to the ground when the trooper approached. The boys, both from Grasonville, were released into the custody of their parents, Williams said.

Raiders Put Big Still Out Of Commission

DORSEY, Md. (AP) — A still capable of turning out 120 gallons of moonshine whisky a day was put out of commission Tuesday by federal and state raiders.

Agents said a 42-year-old farmer will be charged Wednesday before a U. S. Commissioner in Baltimore with operating the still. It was in a pine grove adjacent to the farmer's property in Howard County.

Kenneth Stewart, a state tax agent, described the still as a "North Carolina type." In this operation, steam is generated away from the still and forced into it through pipes.

Other types cook the whisky on top of a fire.

State Dept. China Travel Curb Upheld

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Court of Appeals Monday unanimously upheld the right of the State Department to choose the news correspondents it would allow to travel to Communist China.

It ruled that the department acted within its authority in denying permission to author Waldo Frank, who sought to go to China as a correspondent for Latin American newspapers. He claimed the department discriminated against him in violation of the "due process" amendment of the constitution.

But Judge Warren E. Burger said that the secretary of state has a "wide latitude" in carrying out foreign policy. He said the secretary should be allowed to establish strict criteria for those it permits to travel to Red China.

The department had said that only news organizations with at least one full-time correspondent overseas could send a man.

Burger said in the appeals court opinion that "it is axiomatic that the conduct of foreign affairs necessarily involves flexible measures and policies which can be adjusted to meet changing conditions."

"Just as Communist China altered its former rigid policy of admitting no American newsmen, this country must be free to alter its policies."

Burger said the State Department, but certainly not court, is qualified to say whose presence in China implements its policy.

The judge also said the department should be allowed to make a distinction between individual reporters and news agencies with a demonstrated interest in foreign news coverage.

"The probability that the Communists will try to secure some advantage out of admitting American news reporters to the mainland emphasizes the strictly political nature of the entire problem," he said.

Soviet Powers Of Rejuvenation Concern West

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Western analysts, regardless of how they may evaluate the intentions of the Soviet Union's ruling autarchy, have been inclined to accept at face value the almost unanimous reports of travelers that the Soviet people do not want war.

Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov has used the high war death rate in his own family as an example of why.

The Population Reference Bureau, a Washington nonprofit organization which analyzes world population statistics as they relate to food problems, industrial potential and the like, has come up with new figures which can be applied on this point.

Immediately after World War II, Soviet casualties were estimates at from three to seven millions. In 1946 the World Almanac said civilian casualties represented about half of a total of between 12 and 15 million.

The Reference Bureau, studying birth rate and other records published in connection with the 1958 census, now puts the total at between 15 and 20 million.

That leaves a lot of people who have been directly touched by the horror of war.

Additional millions — practically all the people of the U.S.S.R.— have been affected in their lives.

Millions were evacuated from the actual war areas, and many of them have remained to populate new cities east of the Urals. In 1939 only 32 per cent of the people lived in cities. Now it is nearly half. Two hundred cities have been established since 1956.

This rapid growth of cities is a testimonial to the already-known industrial growth of the country as well as to improved agricultural methods requiring less manpower for increased production.

Kozlov expressed irritation over the Western idea that Soviet women work like mules. The census figures make it clear, however, that female labor has been a necessity in the economy of a country which emerged from the war with a population of something like 155 million, but with an ablebodied labor force of only 25 million.

Westerners who are already painfully conscious of the Communist bloc's tremendous manpower may also ponder what will happen when new generations, unaffected by the war losses, will begin to arrive. The war has been over now for 14 years.

The vitality of a nation which has chosen to be an enemy of the free world is also measurable against this background. This postwar period has marked her greatest economic advances, as compared with the judgment entertained by many that France has never recovered from her World War I losses.

There is ample evidence that the people of the U.S.S.R. didn't want war in 1941, either, and that many of them in the Western areas welcomed the Germans as liberators. But Stalin dropped the Communist Revolution for the time to mobilize them in the name of the defense of Mother Russia, and their ultimate effort was heroic.

This ability of a dictatorship to mobilize an uninformed people, so dramatically displayed by Adolf Hitler, and the undeviating devotion of the Soviet dictatorship to a policy of world conquest, is what makes the free world so afraid of a nation which displays such powers of rejuvenation.

65% Of New Car Buyers Pay On Installment Plan

By BEN PHLEGAR

DETROIT (AP) — The average fellow who buys a new car every three years might as well make a spot in his permanent budget for the monthly car payment because he's going to be paying every month.

Alan G. Rude, president of Universal C.I.T. Credit Corp., largest of the independent auto finance companies, says the current average for a time payment contract is between 29 and 30 months.

This would leave a man six months to accumulate the needed cash to go with his present car for a down payment on a new one. Then the monthly payments begin all over again.

Rude says his company figures about 65 per cent of the new car buyers pay on the installment plan. Their average current monthly payment is $89. The use of credit on used cars is even higher, Rude says, running about three out of every four deals.

The total amount owed by consumers on their cars adds up to a whopping 16 billion dollars. That is about $235 on every licensed vehicle in the country — cars, trucks and buses.

There are some people that walk into a dealer's show room, find a car they like, write a check for the full amount and take their title free and clear.

A recent report by the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan gives some clue about these relatively rare birds.

First of all, they are apt to be older — with children grown and the house paid for.

They are apt to earn more, probably considerably more, than $10,000 a year. They've got money in the bank.

Installment credit generally, the center reports, is a middle income phenomenon. The vast majority of users make from $3,000 to $10,000 a year.

On auto financing in general Rude said he found buyers faithful in making their payments and that the situation is improving rapidly as general business conditions improve. His company's current rate of repossessions is about one-half of 1 per cent.

Maryland Crops Suffer From Hot, Dry Weather

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Maryland crops have been hit hard by recent hot, dry weather, official observers reported Tuesday.

The Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service said in its weekly report that corn, cucumbers and snap beans were especially affected by the drought last week.

Corn was beginning to "fire" and tassle prematurely in many fields, with some fields undergoing no ear formation and going to seed. Sweet corn yields were expected to drop sharply. Snap bean and cucumber harvests also were reported much lower than last year.

Soybeans were reported in fairly good condition but making little growth, and conditions were described as ideal for haymaking.

Scattered showers brought some relief to areas west of Chesapeake Bay, but soils still needed more rain the report said.

Cornerstone Laying Ceremony Set Today

BALTIMORE (AP) — The cornerstone of the massive new Social Security headquarters building will be laid here Wednesday in ceremonies attended by Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

A 10-story structure of concrete and white speckled brick, it is rising on Baltimore's west outskirts and will be the sixth biggest federal building in the nation, biggest outside of metropolitan Washington.

The $31,080,000 building is expected to be ready in early 1960 to receive the work histories of 130 million Americans and other records now kept in 12 downtown Baltimore buildings.

Besides Flemming, participants in the cornerstone laying ceremony will include Victor Christgau, director of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, and William L. Mitchell, commissioner of social security.

Chancellor Resigns

VIENNA (UPI)—Former chancellor Julius Raab submitted his resignation Monday night to President Adolf Schaerf after he was unable to form a new conservative - socialist coalition government. Raab, chancellor since 1953 had been unsuccessful since the general elections May 10 in efforts to form a government.

1,200 Take Oath As Midshipmen

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Some 1,200 young men took the oath of a midshipman Tuesday and formed the class of 1963 at the U.S. Naval Academy.

The new midshipmen were sworn in by Capt. William F. Bringle, their commandant, in an outdoor ceremony held on Tecumseh Court in front of Bancroft Hall, the midshipman dormitory.

They were in civilian clothes, but their new short haircuts gave them a military look.

For the rest of plebe summer, a nine-week indoctrination period, the new midshipmen will see little of their parents or anyone else outside the academy walls.

Hazing of the new plebes will not begin in earnest until all the midshipmen return to classes in September.

Going To Alaska? Line Up Job First

BALTIMORE (AP) — If you're thinking of going to Alaska to seek your fortune, better think twice.

The State Department of Employment Security said Tuesday Maryland workers shouldn't move to the 49th state unless they have a job lined up in advance.

The department said it received this warning from its counterpart agency in Alaska.

Alaska's rate of unemployment, as tabulated from unemployment insurance figures, is running about 20 per cent, about four times higher than the national average.

There are a few shortages in some professional categories, including physicians and X-ray technicians, secretaries and stenographers, but in other fields no immediate sizable increase in employment is foreseen.

Bogus Trooper Halts Motorist

BALTIMORE (AP) — Thomas Garrity said he was driving along the Baltimore-Washington Expressway near Friendship International Airport Tuesday when a man who resembled a state trooper stopped him.

Garrity said the man, wearing khaki and a broad-brimmed hat, told him he was speeding and demanded $22.90, adding that Garrity could either stand trial immediately or in a few days.

Garrity elected to stand trial immediately. The bogus state trooper said he would have to radio the station. He returned to his car and sped off toward Washington.

Garrity, reporting the incident to state police at Waterloo, said the man appeared to be about 25 and was driving a "shiny, black Ford."

Maryland Crops Suffer From Hot, Dry Weather

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Maryland crops have been hit hard by recent hot, dry weather, official observers reported Tuesday.

The Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service said in its weekly report that corn, cucumbers and snap beans were especially affected by the drought last week.

Corn was beginning to "fire" and tassle prematurely in many fields, with some fields undergoing no ear formation and going to seed. Sweet corn yields were expected to drop sharply. Snap bean and cucumber harvests also were reported much lower than last year.

Soybeans were reported in fairly good condition but making little growth, and conditions were described as ideal for haymaking.

Scattered showers brought some relief to areas west of Chesapeake Bay, but soils still needed more rain the report said.

Cornerstone Laying Ceremony Set Today

BALTIMORE (AP) — The cornerstone of the massive new Social Security headquarters building will be laid here Wednesday in ceremonies attended by Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

A 10-story structure of concrete and white speckled brick, it is rising on Baltimore's west outskirts and will be the sixth biggest federal building in the nation, biggest outside of metropolitan Washington.

The $31,080,000 building is expected to be ready in early 1960 to receive the work histories of 130 million Americans and other records now kept in 12 downtown Baltimore buildings.

Besides Flemming, participants in the cornerstone laying ceremony will include Victor Christgau, director of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, and William L. Mitchell, commissioner of social security.

1,200 Take Oath As Midshipmen

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Some 1,200 young men took the oath of a midshipman Tuesday and formed the class of 1963 at the U.S. Naval Academy.

The new midshipmen were sworn in by Capt. William F. Bringle, their commandant, in an outdoor ceremony held on Tecumseh Court in front of Bancroft Hall, the midshipman dormitory.

They were in civilian clothes, but their new short haircuts gave them a military look.

For the rest of plebe summer, a nine-week indoctrination period, the new midshipmen will see little of their parents or anyone else outside the academy walls.

Hazing of the new plebes will not begin in earnest until all the midshipmen return to classes in September.

Going To Alaska? Line Up Job First

BALTIMORE (AP) — If you're thinking of going to Alaska to seek your fortune, better think twice.

The State Department of Employment Security said Tuesday Maryland workers shouldn't move to the 49th state unless they have a job lined up in advance.

The department said it received this warning from its counterpart agency in Alaska.

Alaska's rate of unemployment, as tabulated from unemployment insurance figures, is running about 20 per cent, about four times higher than the national average.

There are a few shortages in some professional categories, including physicians and X-ray technicians, secretaries and stenographers, but in other fields no immediate sizable increase in employment is foreseen.

Bogus Trooper Halts Motorist

BALTIMORE (AP) — Thomas Garrity said he was driving along the Baltimore-Washington Expressway near Friendship International Airport Tuesday when a man who resembled a state trooper stopped him.

Garrity said the man, wearing khaki and a broad-brimmed hat, told him he was speeding and demanded $22.90, adding that Garrity could either stand trial immediately or in a few days.

Garrity elected to stand trial immediately. The bogus state trooper said he would have to radio the station. He returned to his car and sped off toward Washington.

Garrity, reporting the incident to state police at Waterloo, said the man appeared to be about 25 and was driving a "shiny, black Ford."

Doctor In Serious Condition After Crash

Dr. Robert Suitt of Perry Point suffered a cerebral concussion, fractured collar bone, bruises and lacerations. State Police charged him with driving his car in the wrong lane.

Dr. Suitt's car collided Monday night with a car driven by Joseph N. Hunt of Newark, N.J.

County Board Invited To Social Events

Invitations to two events were received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Robert G. Heavner, president of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, asked the commissioners to attend the annual farmers' picnic and farm queen contest Saturday at the Union Grove camp grounds on Mason Road.

The picnic starts at 6:30 p. m. and the farm queen will be selected at 8:30 p. m. The winner will take part in the contest to select a state farm queen at the state fair at Timonium in September.

Carl C. Robbins, district manager of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, invited the commissioners to attend a dinner meeting July 22 at Gettysburg, Pa.

Robbins said that the dinner is an annual affair at which architects and consulting engineers are guests. This year it was decided to expand the guest list to county boards of commissioners and school superintendents in the district.

The members of the board said they would attend the dinner meeting.

The board also received word from the Washington County Board of Commissioners that they would attend the four-county session of Garret, Allegany and Frederick County commissioners to be held at the Cumberland Country Club on July 16.

Rep. John J. Foley (D-Sixth Md.) wrote the board that he would not be able to attend as he has prior commitments. Foley's luncheon meeting of several months ago of county boards in his district prompted the scheduling of quarterly meetings of the boards of Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties. They will discuss mutual problems.

County Gets $1,151 From Liquor Unit

The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners yesterday returned a surplus $1,151.21 of its budget to the county commissioners.

A budget of $20,000 was set for the period June 1, 1958 to May 31, 1959 and the surplus resulted when there were only a few remonstrance hearings during the year. The surplus came from $500 in attorneys' fees, $450 for transcripts of hearings and $275 in office supplies which were not required.

The board granted the transfer of the liquor license of Al's Chateau, corner of Baltimore and North Mechanic streets, to the Shriver building at the corner of Frederick Street and Henderson Boulevard.

Former Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick has taken over the license formerly held by Al Cromwell. Dick said he will operate a package liquor store in the Schriver building and will have a parking space allotted for use of his customers.

A report of the two inspectors for the board for the two week period ending las. Saturday was submitted to the board. There were 40 establishments visited and in some instances more than one visit was made.

Auto Driver Killed In Highway Accident

A Romney man was hospitalized yesterday with injuries suffered in a Virginia highway accident which claimed the life of the other driver involved.

Virginia State Police said Loraine Hogbin, Romney, is hospitalized with cuts, burns and a fractured pelvis sustained when the tractor-trailer he was operating was struck headon by a car driven by Jack George White, 58, of Winchester, Va.

Police said the accident occurred on Va. Route 7, three miles east of Berryville. White was reported enroute to work when he pulled out to pass another car and rammed into the trailer rig, which burst into flames. White apparently died instantly.

Officers Elected At Potomac Park

The Citizens Committee of Potomac Park Addition notified the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday of the election of officers at a recent meeting of the group.

The committee officers are Elton M. Cornelius, chairman; Edward G. Brookman, secretary; Harold C. Turner, treasurer, and Melvin Dean and Edward W. Shaffer, members.

One of the highest suspension bridges in the world spans the Arkansas river in Colorado.

Board Gets List Of Cars Used By County

As the result of a number of complaints received by members of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners pertaining to use of cars with license tags which carry a star (noting they are city, county or state vehicles), a list of county-owned cars has been given to the commissioners.

Commissioner John J. Rowan asked for the list of county cars and the report shows the county has only six autos, those used by the sheriff and his deputies, the county investigator's car and the Roads Department's autos.

Similar lists of cars with the star license tags were compiled showing vehicles used by personnel of the school system, Health Department, Welfare Board and agencies other than the county departments.

The Health Department has 21 cars, nine of them 1959 models, and the Welfare Department lists seven cars.

It was stated that the complaints to the commissioners by various persons were to the effect that the star license tags had been noted parked at night at certain points, at drive-in theatres and other places which had no connection with official business.

Buying Policy Established By County Commissioners

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday instructed Harry Skelly, county roads supervisor, that in the future when he is purchasing materials there must be advertisements for bids.

The matter was brought up after the board found several individual purchases of pipe for use by the Roads Department were made within a short period.

Total cost of the pipe was approximately $2,000. All purchases by the county in excess of $1,000 must be advertised for bids.

Skelly explained that he had obtained three estimates on all the pipe purchased and bought from the lowest bidder. He further stated that when he reaches the end of the budget year about the last of May he can ascertain if he has any funds left over.

When this occurs he buys materials which are needed for the coming construction season.

Commissioner John J. Rowan told Skelly that he knows that the best price possible was obtained by the county but that it was felt the $1,000 advertisement law should be followed.

All three commissioners feel that the $1,000 law on bids is outmoded and should be either raised higher or else eliminated. Commissioner John Tucker Mason commented that the county buys in excess of $1,000 worth of food for the three county institutions but the purchases are spread out over a period of time.

County Dust Problem Again Discussed By Board

A lengthy discussion took place at yesterday's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners concerning dust conditions along county roads and means to alleviate the situation.

One plan adopted will be the construction of several test strips of roadway, particularly in small communities where there are a number of homes along county roads. These test strips would consist of an application of crusher run stone, oiling and then a cap of screenings.

This would be somewhat similar to the light surface treatment being given on short side streets within the City of Cumberland. Commissioner John J. Rowan said he intends to check further into a plan which he said is used in several western states of treating rural roads with light surfacing of screenings and oiling.

Commissioner John Tucker Mason said he had contacted a road engineer and was informed that the oiling of roadways and streets was a waste of money over a period of years and no permanent benefit was obtained by this system.

Commissioner Mason suggested that certain areas where there are quite a few residences affected by dust conditions and within small rural communities the county could consider hardsurfacing.

This spot hardsurface plan would be on a long-range plan and within 10 or 15 years the county could obtain permanent roadways and eliminate the waste of oiling such thoroughfares.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said some system of hardsurfacing over a long term should be considered. Commissioner Rowan said that some elimination of the dust problem should be given consideration in the near future.

Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, said there are 350 miles of unpaved roadways and any program decided upon, even a simple oiling program, will cost quite a bit of money.

Employment of sound percentage principles in guessing the location of an adverse honor should frequently defer to information acquired at the table. Declarer could have drawn a shrewd inference from his opponent's silence during the auction to land his game contract today.

The bidding was reasonable and West opened the king of diamonds against four hearts. A brief examination of the dummy made it apparent to West that the club suit offered the only hope of developing any additional tricks for the defense. So he followed by a prompt shift to the three of clubs, hoping to put declarer to the guess if he did not hold the queen. Declarer won with the queen and took the heart finesse.

North was critical of this play, contending that the finesse should not have been taken with 10 trumps. South referred to the percentage tables, to show that the finesse was the proper procedure. "After all," he pleaded, "I didn't have a look." North was right, but not for the reason he assigned. He, too, had missed the point.

It is true that percentages favor the finesse with 10 when the king is missing. But declarer had a better clew than the percentage tables. At the end of trick two, West is marked almost to a certainty with the ace-king of diamonds and the ace of clubs. If he also held the guarded king of hearts, it is quite inconceivable that he would have chosen to pass initially. East is, therefore, marked with the king of hearts and the only hope is that it is alone.

To pick off the single king would have been a good illustration of playing by ear.

Two Men Are Fined In Street Brawl

Two men were fined $10 Monday in Police Court on disturbance of the peace charges resulting from a brawl involving nine youths Saturday night on Greene Street.

Fined by Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti were Jerry Cutchall, Cresaptown, and Ray Taylor, 331 Frederick Street. The cases of Michael Murphy, Lima, Ohio, and Robert O'Neal, with the U.S. Marine Corps, were continued, while charges against three other youths were dismissed.

Calvin Jones, 358 Davidson Street, forfeited a $20 bond on similar charges in the case, while the ninth youth, Mervin Pope, 225 Independence Street, was turned over to Juvenile Court, when it was learned that he is only 17 years old.

Early Apples Being Shipped To Market

Orchardists of this section who are just starting to pick and ship early apples are meeting an unusual market situation.

These 1959 apples are competing directly with 1958 apples.

This has been brought about by packers using controlled atmosphere storage buildings.

Henry W. Miller Jr., Paw Paw, executive vice president of Consolidated Orchards Inc., said the main competition has come from the late varieties of last fall's crop in the Northwest where growers had a bumper crop.

These were kept through the winter and into this summer by the cooling process that uses an air conditioning or circulation system.

The experience of orchardists has been that consumers prefer red apples over yellow or yellow-white varieties, and the Northwest packers are still shipping 1958 Winesaps.

As a consequence, the prices on early apples are not as good as last year in this unusual market situation, Miller pointed out.

However, the early apples account for only eight or nine percent of Consolidated's total shipments.

Consolidated, which has its major orchards in Allegany, Morgan and Hampshire counties, is listed as one of the ten top packers in the industry.

Miller pointed out that Consolidated is looking forward to the largest crop in its history, and the market situation, if weather conditions are favorable, will improve later.

He said the Northwest apple sections have a very light crop this year following last year's bumper harvest.

Officials Vote To Raise Fees In Lonaconing

New Council Begins Activity

LONACONING—The new Mayor and Council held their first meeting of their two-year term Monday night and voted to raise several fees collected by the town.

They first voted to raise the so-called courtesy parking fine for parking too long by a meter from 10 cents to 25 cents if paid at the Town Hall within one hour after the offense. The regular fine for overparking by meters is $1.

Also raised Monday night was the fee for building permits from 25 cents to $1.

The new town officials also decided to restrict parking on the north side of East Main Street. Signs will be posted along the street reminding motorists of the new one-hour parking limit.

A request was sent to the Civil Service Board that an examination be given in the near future for extra policemen for the community.

The Maryland Municipal League submitted a bill for dues for the coming year, raised from $98 to $122.50. Payment of the dues was approved.

Robert D. Peebles presided at his first meeting as the town's new mayor. He was a commissioner. The commissioners present Monday night were Benjamin H. Evans Jr., street commissioner; Benjamin E. Zarger, water and light commissioner, and James Berry, finance commissioner. Robert M. "Lefty" Grove, police commissioner and Hall of Fame baseball pitcher, was in Pittsburgh, awaiting the All-Star baseball game.

Mr. Evans reported that Marshall Fazenbaker, the street supervisor, was busy cutting weeds on vacant lots and along streets of the community. The new street commissioner also distributed a list of suggestions which will be acted upon at future meetings.

The Monday night session was also the first for Calvin James as the new town clerk.

The wildcat scratched both dogs about the muzzle but they were not seriously hurt. The snarling of the animals attracted the attention of members of the family.

When a son of Winkler saw what was happening he went to the house to get a shotgun. He used the gun to kill the wildcat.

State Trooper R. C. DeShong was called and he contacted Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke concerning the wildcat.

Present at the meeting were Ann Rodgers, University of Maryland; Lee Miller, Farmers' Home Administration; Donald Ebersole, Department of Employment Security; James Gwinn, Social Security Administration; John Cobun, vocational rehabilitation; Gist Welling, University of Maryland; Helmuth Heise, William W. Will Change Food Program

OAKLAND—The surplus foods program, as operated by the Board of County Commissioners for the past four or five years, has been discontinued, according to Carl A. Schell, board president.

In the future the only items available will be flour, corn meal and rice, and a rigorous system will be used for eligibility.

In carrying out the program formerly there had been distributed butter, cheese, powdered milk, canned meat and shortening. People receiving the surplus food had been registering each month in each locality on the date they received their commodities.

It is now necessary for persons desiring surplus food to come to the commissioner's office, bring proof of their earnings, and the birth date of every dependent claimed. The same process will be repeated every three months.

Those eligible will receive five pounds of corn meal every three months, 10 pounds of flour every three months and one half pound of rice per month per person.

The change in the program was brought about by new federal regulations which would make it much more expensive to operate than the benefit received would warrant. Schell said it would require at least two employes on a full-time basis and others on a part-time basis. Under the federal requirement a home demonstration agent would be required to go into homes involved to teach them how to use the material provided.

Under the new program set up by the government, the commissioners would agree to provide sufficient personnel for the proper supervision. So the commissioners at their last regular session decided to curtail the program to a minimum.

Daniel P. Smouse, who has been the surplus food distributor for the board, is being named Civil Defense director for the county. He will fill the position presently held by Fred W. Tichnell.

LONACONING—The new Mayor and Council held their first meeting of their two-year term Monday night and voted to raise several fees collected by the town.

They first voted to raise the so-called courtesy parking fine for parking too long by a meter from 10 cents to 25 cents if paid at the Town Hall within one hour after the offense. The regular fine for overparking by meters is $1.

Also raised Monday night was the fee for building permits from 25 cents to $1.

The new town officials also decided to restrict parking on the north side of East Main Street. Signs will be posted along the street reminding motorists of the new one-hour parking limit.

A request was sent to the Civil Service Board that an examination be given in the near future for extra policemen for the community.

The Maryland Municipal League submitted a bill for dues for the coming year, raised from $98 to $122.50. Payment of the dues was approved.

Robert D. Peebles presided at his first meeting as the town's new mayor. He was a commissioner. The commissioners present Monday night were Benjamin H. Evans Jr., street commissioner; Benjamin E. Zarger, water and light commissioner, and James Berry, finance commissioner. Robert M. "Lefty" Grove, police commissioner and Hall of Fame baseball pitcher, was in Pittsburgh, awaiting the All-Star baseball game.

Mr. Evans reported that Marshall Fazenbaker, the street supervisor, was busy cutting weeds on vacant lots and along streets of the community. The new street commissioner also distributed a list of suggestions which will be acted upon at future meetings.

The Monday night session was also the first for Calvin James as the new town clerk.

Driver Gives Self Up In Death Case

Dale Walls, 23, of Aitch, Pa., has informed Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford that he was driving the car which struck Harry J. Hirth, 22, of Huntingdon, last Tuesday night.

Walls has advised Sgt. Andrew Murafka of the Bedford barracks that he had run over Hirth's legs while the man was lying across State Route 26 in Liberty Township. He stated he was unable to see the man's body in the darkness.

Police believe the car ran over Hirth's legs, flipped him over and caused his head to strike the roadway, killing him instantly.

Walls told police that he was driving along the road with his wife when the accident occurred. He stopped after the accident and found he could render no assistance to Hirth. He indicated that he became panicky after that and drove his wife home. He returned to the scene of the accident afterward but still could not bring himself to tell police what had happened.

The younger Van Horn was elected to fill out his father's unexpired term at the July meeting of the bank's board of directors last Friday. The elder Van Horn died in May after serving as the bank's president since 1938.

The new president first became associated with the bank in 1952 when he was elected to the board of directors. His current term will expire next January when the bank's annual election for 1960 is scheduled.

The New Enterprise Bank was organized in 1911. The elder Van Horn became associated with the institution a few years after its founding. Paul I. Detwiler is vice president of the bank and J. B. Eshelman is cashier.

The train was the Pennsylvania's 18-car West Coast Champion, No. 101, southbound from Chicago to Washington. The railroad said it was delayed 21 minutes.

A New Look In Naval Warfare

A minesweeper piloted by airplane engines and a submarine chaser on stilts may sound like the works of a madman, or the results of a blueprint mixup, but the U. S. Navy has asked for appropriations to build both of these, and other peculiar craft, in the present fiscal year. If these unconventional craft meet expectations, there undoubtedly will be more in the years to come.

The airplane propeller-driven minesweeper will actually be a converted Liberty ship with the mission of destroying hard-to-find mines which are set to detonate with the changing water pressures caused by passing ships. The experimental minesweeper will have the risky job of deliberately passing over areas to be cleared of pressure mines in order to detonate them with its own pressure.

Crews of these vessels will be given all possible protection, including a well padded hull. The hull will be filled with buoyant styrofoam which should keep the vessel afloat even if it is damaged. The above-water propellers replace conventional ones to prevent the ship's driving mechanism from being crippled by a floating mine. The crew's quarters will be above the water line in specially constructed and padded shock-proof cabins.

A vessel equipped with hydrofoils is the U. S. Navy's second innovation, and is the result of a need for faster speed and greater maneuverability to outwit modern submarines. Theoretically, naval experts predict such craft — which require small displacement because the hydrofoils tend to lift the vessel out of the water —are capable of speeds of 70 to 100 knots.

It is obvious from the Navy Department's requests that it considers its two greatest enemies submarines and missiles. Many of its other experimental plans include such vessels as a "noiseless" sub chaser with sonar equipment which can be lowered into the ocean to seek out enemy vessels hiding in the depths, anti-missile ships and vessels to service the Polaris missile-firing submarines.

Future programs plan for more of the same, including a fleet of 25 nuclear attack submarines. Sneak attacks and unseen weapons have replaced battleship duels.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

To A High School Senior

I have received a letter from a high school senior whose name and address I omit for obvious reasons. This young person is not exceptional in having been told that wealth is a satisfaction in itself. Education cannot be limited to learning facts, such as two plus two make four. There must be some emphasis on the development of character and personality.

In a recent discussion with an editor on what is news, I made the point that in our emphasis on events, the forces which move minds and people. In this letter, a young man, on the edge of life, already asks the question, "What's the use?", and his father fails to guide him.

Here is most of the young man's letter:

"I am very puzzeled about one thing and maybe you can help me out in your column—why is it that individuals like Mrs. Luce and Mr. Straus are so anxious to secure government jobs that don't pay too much if they have all of the money that I have read in the paper that they have. I just can't understand if Mr. Strauss was a banker he could probably make much more money banking than being Secretary of Commerce. Why was he so anxious to get the job—and the same with Mrs. Luce—her husband has a lot of money why did she want to take a job with a lot of headaches. And why with all every one says these people went through trying to get approved by congress would they want to go through with this if they have all the money they need. Why didn't they let some career person that actually needed a job take these positions in the first place?

"I asked my father if it was true that some individuals actually wanted to serve their country—even at a financial loss to themselves. My father laughed and said—that individuals of this type in these days were like the Dodo bird. I asked him to explain and he said when I grew older and understood politics I would understand. What did he mean?"

To this I can only reply:

Your father is too cynical. There are many good men in the world who devote themselves to the public good. I suggest that you read the life of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, as an example of such a person. Or, have a look at the life of Father Hubbard: Or, for that matter, think of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Germany, who at 83, is still laboring to build West Germany to greatness. Or, if you ever have an opportunity, meet ex-President Herbert Hoover, who will be 85 on August 10, and who since 1914 has served the public without ever accepting any compensation for his work.

These names come easily to mind. But look about you among the people you know, teachers, clergymen, public officials, and you will find some who have given more of their time and their lives than they are paid for. As you live near the national capital, you must know some men who could find more money in private enterprise but who remain in government service for non-monetary reasons.

You ask me about Clare Luce and Lewis Strauss. Both are friends of mine. You are right, neither needs the money that a government job brings. Mrs. Luce has her own means; Strauss is a rich man. Both these persons feel that there are jobs that they could do for our government. Mrs. Luce, for instance, was our Ambassador to Italy and was remarkably successful. There can be no question but that she is particularly suitable for our Embassy in Brazil. Such a job might cost her about $50,000 a year out of her own pocket and she has it to spend. She is a Roman Catholic and Brazil is one of the most intensely Roman Catholic countries.

Admiral Strauss is really a career man in government in the sense that he has been in and out of government service the whole of his adult life. He has been successful in both government and private enterprise. There are many men and women like these two.

You will discover as you go through life that men seek honor. They seek the respect of their friends and associates. They even want their children to take pride in them. Some men want a place in history.

Hospital Release "Plot" Seen Against Long Staying In Office

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It would surprise no one in the know regarding Louisiana politics if cronies of embattled Gov. Earl Long weren't deliberately releasing him from hospital care in order to hasten his exit from political life or even from this terrestrial scene altogether.

The real fact is, the Governor is quite a sick man. And continued activity can only cause a serious, prolonged breakdown — or even his death.

The doctors who have examined the Governor know this. So do his closest friends. He was examined many times while in the hospital. The examinations showed that Long had suffered a series of small strokes. Unless he is required to take complete and prolonged rest this could result in rapid deterioration of all his bodily functions.

Instead of this rest, the Governor is holding press conferences at the rate of two and sometimes three a day; made 40 telephone calls from his bed in one evening, some of them from an oxygen tent, and is planning campaign speeches and extensive trips.

In private talks with his psychiatrists, the Governor has made remarks about his close associates, which, if true, could send them to jail. In a state where Long's brother, Huey the Kingfish, died of an assassin's bullet, anything can happen; and it would surprise no one if Earl Long's release was not a calculated plan to get him out of the way.

Rayburn Revolt

It hasn't flared into headlines yet, but the Democratic revolt against elderly Speaker Sam Rayburn in the House of Representatives is very much like the revolt against elderly Chancellor Adenauer in Germany.

Both indicate that the older a man gets the more autocratic he gets. Both are putting blemishes on the great careers of two much revered elder statesmen.

Young Turk Democrats in Congress want to keep their rebellion secret, but it's building up steam in regard to education, a labor bill, and particularly an increase of interest rates on government bonds. This was what suddenly caused the Ways and Means Committee to stop the so-called interest rate "compromise" dead in its tracks.

Some Young Turks privately felt that the venerable Mr. Sam was becoming too much beholden to his fellow Texan, Secretary of the Treasury Bob Anderson, who has offered to raise $200,000 to help operate the Rayburn Library at Bonham, Tex.

Leader Of Revolt

At any rate the revolt reached a climax at a secret meeting of Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee, charged with recommending for or against increased interest rates on government bonds. Leader of the revolt is a French-Canadian from Rhode Island, Aime Forand.

"This isn't a compromise," he said, referring to the plan to let President Eisenhower decide whether to increase interest rates on government bonds. "It's the same as the original plan, with a change in the wording, to give the Eisenhower Administration unlimited power to increase interest rates.

"This plan would create more inflation and add to the national debt," continued the French-Canadian from Rhode Island. "The Democratic party would be hurt if we lend our support to it. We will have a black eye in the 1960 elections."

"What do you mean by a black eye?" asked a colleague.

"I mean the kind of a black eye Floyd Patterson got the other night from Ingemar Johannsen."

Chairman Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas Democrat who sides with Rayburn and Secretary Anderson for an increase in government bond interest rates, disagreed.

"I respect your views," he said, "but I can't agree with them. This compromise measure is a safe and satisfactory solution. It leaves it up to the President and the Treasury to revise interest rates upward on long-term bonds, only in the event of a crisis — that is, if the bonds can't otherwise be marketed."

Unlimited Powers

Congressman James Frazier of Tennessee, another member of the opposition bloc, spoke up.

"We can't afford to give the President and Secretary of the Treasury the complete and arbitrary powers contained in this so-called compromise bill," he said. "From the time of Andrew Jackson, the Democratic Party has been against high interest rates and for adequate controls on the banking industry. This bill would give almost unlimited powers to raise bond interest rates higher and higher.

"It would eventually mean increased interest rates on houses, automobiles, washing machines—practically everything we buy on credit," argued Frazier. "For the interest rates on private credit invariably follow the trend of government securities."

Others who opposed Rayburn and Chairman Mills in the secret meeting of Democrats were Lee Metcalf of Montana, Tom O'Brien of Illinois, Frank Karsten of Missouri and Thad Machrowicz of Michigan. Finally Rayburn and Mills decided it would be wiser to postpone any showdown on the dynamite-laden issue for at least a week.

However, the revolt isn't likely to quiet down. Even if the interest rate increase gets by the house it's not likely to pass the Senate this summer.

American Press Exposes Hypocrisies Of Kozlov

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There must have been in Moscow an advance "briefing" of First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov by the other First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan. One doubtless told the other what to expect in America. It probably ran somewhat as follows:

"Now, Comrade Kozlov, don't underestimate the power of the press in America. You can get good headlines and lots of pictures in the paper by following a few simple rules. For instance, smile always, shake hands with people everywhere, visit the big supermarkets and the shops, talk about 'peaceful coexistence' and how you hate war.

"Tell those Americans that our government has done everything it could to preserve peace but somehow the American government doesn't accept what we demand, and that this is the whole trouble.

"Now, as for the businessmen, they only want to make money. Tell them how much money they can make if they open up trade with us. Not all businessmen feel that way. Some of them are reactionary—they believe in supporting their government's policies, and they call it 'patriotism.' But there are always others who like to get their names in the paper and who will go out of their way to make a fuss over you.

"As for the President and the Secretary of State, be firm with them. If you can get the people with you, it doesn't matter about the government's policies. Be sure you stress peace because the people want to be left alone —they don't like war. Tell them about our sputniks and missiles, of course, so that they'll know we're ahead and they will stop trying to catch up. Don't show any signs of weakening or giving in. With those Americans, it is necessary to talk tough — and then they'll melt away."

How successful was this approach? First Deputy Kozlov has followed the line very closely. How many millions of Americans are being taken in by it? Some local officials—as, for instance, the Mayor of Detroit—aren't being fooled. He plainly said he saw no reason to give any welcome to an unofficial visitor who represents what Mr. Kozlov does.

But the American press has done a far better job this time in exposing the hypocrisies evident in the Kozlov utterances than when similar falsehoods were disseminated by Mr. Mikoyan on his recent visit to this country.

The New York "Times," for instance, in an editorial Sunday said that Mr. Kozlov in his speech before the Washington correspondents last week seemed to be speaking for peace and good will, but "much of what he said was either misleading or threatening." The "Times" specifies six points as follows:

"1. He said: 'The will of the Soviet people is a sacred law for the government of the U.S.S.R.' The Russian government is an autocracy. It doesn't know what the will of the Soviet people is.

"2. He said: 'We are building a new society and we believe it will be the most just social order on earth.' There is no standard of justice in Russia except what half a dozen or so people may say it is.

"3. He said: 'We do not intend to foist this order by force on anybody.' It has been foisted by force upon the Baltic States, Hungary, a good part of Eastern Germany and an unknown number of the Russian people.

"4. He spoke of reductions in the Russian army and armaments. He presented no proof that a single man had been demobilized.

"5. He spoke of offers made by Moscow to prohibit the use of nuclear weapons. He did not mention that Russia has refused to make a single binding guarantee that this would be done . . . .

"6. He discussed the surrender of West Berlin to the Moscow-dominated East German Republic as a step in the direction of peace, rejecting with indignation the charge that the Russian policy for West Germany 'revealed aggressive intention.' He knew better and his hearers knew better. When the question was put to him directly whether 'if the Russians cannot get agreement to make Berlin a free city will they use force to obtain that objective?', He answered: 'If a war is unleashed over this question and force is resorted to, then force will be met by force.' This is the basic point at which the apostle of freedom and peace arrives."

The same autocratic government that Mr. Kozlov represents, it might be added, was less than six years ago supplying guns and bombing planes and sending in supervising officers and pilots in Korea to kill 33,000 and wound 103,000 Americans, as well as inflicting hundreds of thousands of casualties on the other troops of the United Nations forces who sought to repel aggression. Today the so-called "armistice" agreement in Korea is still being openly violated by the Red Chinese with the connivance of the Moscow government. This, too, is an example of how the Soviets profess not to be foisting force on anybody.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

Something new has been added to the work hazards of Washington's 1,400 postmen, who daily face dogs, the elements and snarled traffic in making their rounds. From now on they will have to pass two daily inspections.

The morning inspection is to make sure that their uniforms and personal appearance are correct; that they are well-pressed, neat, shaved, and shoe-shined.

The evening inspection is to check on their physical condition—to make sure they haven't tarried too long at a bar, or accepted a "short one" from one of their friends along the delivery route.

So far the mailmen are taking the new routine in a jovial manner. There's a lot of jesting as the "troops" line up for morning inspection. Occasionally, one of them can be heard kidding: "Hey, Kookie, lend me your comb."

The idea was originated by Washington's acting postmaster, who says, "my philosophy is if a man has self-respect, he will automatically have job-respect."

As a part of the general campaign, all Post Office vehicles are checked daily and drivers are receiving safety instructions. So far, there has been a 17 per cent decrease in the accident rate, and a 29 per cent decrease in the accident rate for which Washington's postal drivers are at fault.

Lesson For Today: How To Go To Sleep

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many persons have the mistaken idea that it is normal to sleep like a log night after night. On the contrary, most of us spend 15 to 30 minutes falling asleep and we awaken one or more times during the night. In addition everyone squirms, scratches, jerks, twitches, moves the lips, makes faces, turns over, or rolls the head from 20 to 60 times during sleep.

This pattern is so common it might be considered normal. At least, those who go through these shenanigans awaken fully refreshed and regard it as a good night's sleep. Only the inebriated or drugged sleeper does not move.

The depth of sleep varies constantly. When sleep is lightest, the individual often wakes up for a moment or two and then drops off again. It is at these times that he can make or break his sleeping pattern. One minute at night, for example, seems like five and 10 minutes like an hour. If you should awaken, don't fuss and fume; remember that this is a normal phase of sleep. Within a few minutes you'll be back in the arms of Morpheus.

Getting upset or impatient when sleep does not return within a minute or two is the best way to chase relaxation. Anger over the situation or worrying that tomorrow will be wasted because of lack of sleep increases mental turmoil. Forget it. The situation is different should pain exist or the sleeper is too hot or too cold.

Mental and physical relaxation is a prerequisite for sleep. It should come naturally and without too much effort. The harder you try to relax the more difficult it becomes. A clear conscience and "don't care" attitude is the best sedative in the world.

Many persons have acquired little tricks to help them relax. A warm bath, listening to soothing music, or reading in bed are but a few. Those who like to read in bed should set the stage first by getting all the toilet details cared for and the window open and the alarm wound. Then, when drowsiness and relaxation come, snap off the light and go to sleep.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send a leaflet on insomnia by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

TOMORROW: Juvenile arthritis.

LET HER EAT SUGAR

Mrs. T. writes: My elderly mother has developed such a sweet tooth, she puts sugar in everything, including potatoes. She doesn't care much for meat or fish. Do you think I should let her continue to eat this way?

REPLY

Yes. There is no need for concern if she has been examined by the family doctor and is in good health. If she is not getting all the basic foods, a capsule containing a vitamin mineral supplement is in order.

FRACTURED JAW

K. M. K. W. writes: I broke my jaw some months ago in a car accident. I'm getting along fine but everybody cautions me about falling and bumping it. Does this mean I'll have to be careful the rest of my life?

REPLY

No. A broken jaw is like any other fracture. Once it heals, there is no greater chance of breaking it again than there was in the first place.

STROKE VICTIM

M. R. writes: Can a woman of 63 who is slightly paralyzed from stroke safely go through a gall bladder operation?

REPLY

Much depends upon the woman's physical condition, including the state of the heart and the blood vessels. In such cases the physician in attendance determines whether the degree of discomfort justifies the risk of operation.

ASPIRIN AND BLOOD

L. B. writes: Will taking aspirin every day for 10 years prevent strokes and heart attacks?

REPLY

No. Aspirin has a slight anti-clotting effect on the blood but not enough to prevent clots from developing in the arteries of the heart or brain.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Aside from strong entertainment values, Bill Ballantine's "Wild Tigers and Tame Fleas" provides some invaluable hints to people who may have cause to enter deep woods or jungles—or who crave to join a circus.

Remember, warns Ballantine, that one should beware of all four sides of a camel; that one should never pat an elephant on its trunk; that those cute sea lions have a devastating bite; and that, aside from even better reasons for not putting one's head in a lion's mouth, the king of beasts has the worst case of halitosis in the entire jungle.

"It is not safe," continues Ballantine, "to back up and run from an attacking tiger. Better just stand pat and speak sharply enough." We'll try to remember that, Mr. B.!

The Super Spy–Part One

He walks the streets of Leipzig shyly, a tall crane blinking blandly behind thick glasses. No one asks his name. Everyone knows he is Dr. Klaus Emil Fuchs, the greatest traitor since A.D. 30. He walks the narrow cobbled alleys without a hat, soaking the sun. On the east side of the square, the doctor passes the Rathaus and walks slowly until his lean shadow darkens the stone of Auerbach's Hof.

Perhaps the doctor stops to look. Perhaps not. The Hof was immortalized in Goethe's Faust. In here, an old man sold his soul to the devil for youth. Dr. Fuchs knows that Dr. Faust was a piker. Fuchs sold the childhood of all mankind.

He is free now. He served his time. The British took him from prison a few weeks ago and drove him 180 miles to an airport and put him aboard a Polish airliner. Now, the doctor begins his life anew among the Communists he loves. He is also with his father, old Dr. Emil Fuchs, who was once a Lutheran pastor and is now a Quaker.

The old man was a martinet among Christians. He spoke his mind in and out of the house and he spoke it loud. Dr. Emil was so poor at one time that he used to preach at several Lutheran churches around his home village at Russelsheim, Germany. Before World War I started, the pastor told his flocks that God would punish those who hefted the sword.

God did. The losers lost men and treasure, and the winners lost men and treasure. Then the winners lent money to the losers. Young Klaus grew up in an aura of defeat. He wore a Weimar Republic button to school one day and the monarchist children tore it from his coat and slapped his face. At home, the dinners were made tasteless by long paternal speeches of God, God, God. The boy sickened of it. He hoped the day would come when he would never hear of God. God has granted his wish. Klaus is in Leipzig, Red territory . . .

Once, he studied here. It was truly German then. The university undergraduates were always demonstrating about something political. Klaus joined the gang. He paraded. He made speeches. He talked of a Social Democratic Germany. He was opposed to violence—ardently opposed—but he joined the Reichsbanner, a group of hoodlums who started street fights.

He enjoyed this. He was such a physical coward that, merely to be in the crowd that assaulted the monarchists made him feel big. This was 1930, and a new man was on the way up. This man was a rightist—slightly to the right of slavery — and his name was Hitler. Klaus Fuchs thought that he was funny. A rabble-rouser.

Pastor Emil Fuchs got a new position. He took a post teaching religious science at Kiel University. He sent for Klaus, and told him to stop his studies of physics at Leipzig, that he could study it at Kiel and be with the family. Klaus was obedient. He went home.

There was never any trouble with Klaus Fuchs as a student. He was a perfectionist. Everything he worked on had to be thought out carefully and precisely. As a student physicist, he led his class. As a politician, he was a boob. Again he led the Social Democrats and, as he saw the rise of Adolf Hitler, he saw the decline of his own group.

The solution, he figured, was for the Social Democrats to work temporarily with the Communists. Between the two groups there would be strength enough to crush Hitler's National Socialist Party.

He was wrong. The Communist Party strategy was to permit the Nazis to assume power and, when the German people saw how loathsome Hitler was, the Reds would take over the whole nation. The Reds would then obliterate all parties.

Klaus Fuchs fought the Brown Shirts in the streets of Kiel. They threw him in a river. He became so friendly with the Communists that the Social Democrats read him out of the party. That's when he became a Red. A dedicated Communist . . .

A New Look In Naval Warfare

A minesweeper piloted by airplane engines and a submarine chaser on stilts may sound like the works of a madman, or the results of a blueprint mixup, but the U. S. Navy has asked for appropriations to build both of these, and other peculiar craft, in the present fiscal year. If these unconventional craft meet expectations, there undoubtedly will be more in the years to come.

The airplane propeller-driven minesweeper will actually be a converted Liberty ship with the mission of destroying hard-to-find mines which are set to detonate with the changing water pressures caused by passing ships. The experimental minesweeper will have the risky job of deliberately passing over areas to be cleared of pressure mines in order to detonate them with its own pressure.

Crews of these vessels will be given all possible protection, including a well padded hull. The hull will be filled with buoyant styrofoam which should keep the vessel afloat even if it is damaged. The above-water propellers replace conventional ones to prevent the ship's driving mèchanism from being crippled by a floating mine. The crew's quarters will be above the water line in specially constructed and padded shock-proof cabins.

A vessel equipped with hydrofoils is the U. S. Navy's second innovation, and is the result of a need for faster speed and greater maneuverability to outwit modern submarines. Theoretically, naval experts predict such craft — which require small displacement because the hydrofoils tend to lift the vessel out of the water —are capable of speeds of 70 to 100 knots.

It is obvious from the Navy Department's requests that it considers its two greatest enemies submarines and missiles. Many of its other experimental plans include such vessels as a "noiseless" sub chaser with sonar equipment which can be lowered into the ocean to seek out enemy vessels hiding in the depths, anti-missile ships and vessels to service the Polaris missile-firing submarines.

Future programs plan for more of the same, including a fleet of 25 nuclear attack submarines. Sneak attacks and unseen weapons have replaced battleship duels.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

To A High School Senior

I have received a letter from a high school senior whose name and address I omit for obvious reasons. This young person is not exceptional in having been told that wealth is a satisfaction in itself. Education cannot be limited to learning facts, such as two plus two make four. There must be some emphasis on the development of character and personality.

In a recent discussion with an editor on what is news, I made the point that in our emphasis on events, the forces which move minds and people. In this letter, a young man, on the edge of life, already asks the question, "What's the use?", and his father fails to guide him.

Here is most of the young man's letter:

"I am very puzzeled about one thing and maybe you can help me out in your column—why is it that individuals like Mrs. Luce and Mr. Straus are so anxious to secure government jobs that don't pay too much if they have all of the money that I have read in the paper that they have. I just can't understand if Mr. Strauss was a banker he could probably make much more money banking than being Secretary of Commerce. Why was he so anxious to get the job—and the same with Mrs. Luce—her husband has a lot of money why did she want to take a job with a lot of headaches. And why with all every one says these people went through trying to get approved by congress would they want to go through with this if they have all the money they need. Why didn't they let some career person that actually needed a job take these positions in the first place?

"I asked my father if it was true that some individuals actually wanted to serve their country—even at a financial loss to themselves. My father laughed and said—that individuals of this type in these days were like the Dodo bird. I asked him to explain and he said when I grew older and understood politics I would understand. American Press Exposes Hypocrisies Of Kozlov

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There must have been in Moscow an advance "briefing" of First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov by the other First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan. One doubtless told the other what to expect in America. It probably ran somewhat as follows:

"Now, Comrade Kozlov, don't underestimate the power of the press in America. You can get good headlines and lots of pictures in the paper by following a few simple rules. For instance, smile always, shake hands with people everywhere, visit the big supermarkets and the shops, talk about 'peaceful coexistence' and how you hate war.

"Tell those Americans that our government has done everything it could to preserve peace but somehow the American government doesn't accept what we demand, and that this is the whole trouble.

"Now, as for the businessmen, they only want to make money. Tell them how much money they can make if they open up trade with us. Not all businessmen feel that way. Some of them are reactionary—they believe in supporting their government's policies, and they call it 'patriotism.' But there are always others who like to get their names in the paper and who will go out of their way to make a fuss over you.

"As for the President and the Secretary of State, be firm with them. If you can get the people with you, it doesn't matter about the government's policies. Be sure you stress peace because the people want to be left alone —they don't like war. Tell them about our sputniks and missiles, of course, so that they'll know we're ahead and they will stop trying to catch up. Don't show any signs of weakening or giving in. With those Americans, it is necessary to talk tough — and then they'll melt away."

How successful was this approach? First Deputy Kozlov has followed the line very closely. How many millions of Americans are being taken in by it? Some local officials—as, for instance, the Mayor of Detroit—aren't being fooled. He plainly said he saw no reason to give any welcome to an unofficial visitor who represents what Mr. Kozlov does.

But the American press has done a far better job this time in exposing the hypocrisies evident in the Kozlov utterances than when similar falsehoods were disseminated by Mr. Mikoyan on his recent visit to this country.

The New York "Times," for instance, in an editorial Sunday said that Mr. Kozlov in his speech before the Washington correspondents last week seemed to be speaking for peace and good will, but "much of what he said was either misleading or threatening." The "Times" specifies six points as follows:

"1. He said: 'The will of the Soviet people is a sacred law for the government of the U.S.S.R.' The Russian government is an autocracy. It doesn't know what the will of the Soviet people is.

"2. He said: 'We are building a new society and we believe it will be the most just social order on earth.' There is no standard of justice in Russia except what half a dozen or so people may say it is.

"3. He said: 'We do not intend to foist this order by force on anybody.' It has been foisted by force upon the Baltic States, Hungary, a good part of Eastern Germany and an unknown number of the Russian people.

"4. He spoke of reductions in the Russian army and armaments. He presented no proof that a single man had been demobilized.

"5. He spoke of offers made by Moscow to prohibit the use of nuclear weapons. He did not mention that Russia has refused to make a single binding guarantee that this would be done . . . .

"6. He discussed the surrender of West Berlin to the Moscow-dominated East German Republic as a step in the direction of peace, rejecting with indignation the charge that the Russian policy for West Germany 'revealed aggressive intention.' He knew better and his hearers knew better. When the question was put to him directly whether 'if the Russians cannot get agreement to make Berlin a free city will they use force to obtain that objective?', He answered: 'If a war is unleashed over this question and force is resorted to, then force will be met by force.' This is the basic point at which the apostle of freedom and peace arrives."

The same autocratic government that Mr. Kozlov represents, it might be added, was less than six years ago supplying guns and bombing planes and sending in supervising officers and pilots in Korea to kill 33,000 and wound 103,000 Americans, as well as inflicting hundreds of thousands of casualties on the other troops of the United Nations forces who sought to repel aggression. Today the so-called "armistice" agreement in Korea is still being openly violated by the Red Chinese with the connivance of the Moscow government. This, too, is an example of how the Soviets profess not to be foisting force on anybody.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

Something new has been added to the work hazards of Washington's 1,400 postmen, who daily face dogs, the elements and snarled traffic in making their rounds. From now on they will have to pass two daily inspections.

The morning inspection is to make sure that their uniforms and personal appearance are correct; that they are well-pressed, neat, shaved, and shoe-shined.

The evening inspection is to check on their physical condition—to make sure they haven't tarried too long at a bar, or accepted a "short one" from one of their friends along the delivery route.

So far the mailmen are taking the new routine in a jovial manner. There's a lot of jesting as the "troops" line up for morning inspection. Occasionally, one of them can be heard kidding: "Hey, Kookie, lend me your comb."

The idea was originated by Washington's acting postmaster, who says, "my philosophy is if a man has self-respect, he will automatically have job-respect."

As a part of the general campaign, all Post Office vehicles are checked daily and drivers are receiving safety instructions. So far, there has been a 17 per cent decrease in the accident rate, and a 29 per cent decrease in the accident rate for which Washington's postal drivers are at fault.

Lesson For Today: How To Go To Sleep

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many persons have the mistaken idea that it is normal to sleep like a log night after night. On the contrary, most of us spend 15 to 30 minutes falling asleep and we awaken one or more times during the night. In addition everyone squirms, scratches, jerks, twitches, moves the lips, makes faces, turns over, or rolls the head from 20 to 60 times during sleep.

This pattern is so common it might be considered normal. At least, those who go through these shenanigans awaken fully refreshed and regard it as a good night's sleep. Only the inebriated or drugged sleeper does not move.

The depth of sleep varies constantly. When sleep is lightest, the individual often wakes up for a moment or two and then drops off again. It is at these times that he can make or break his sleeping pattern. One minute at night, for example, seems like five and 10 minutes like an hour. If you should awaken, don't fuss and fume; remember that this is a normal phase of sleep. Within a few minutes you'll be back in the arms of Morpheus.

Getting upset or impatient when sleep does not return within a minute or two is the best way to chase relaxation. Anger over the situation or worrying that tomorrow will be wasted because of lack of sleep increases mental turmoil. Forget it. The situation is different should pain exist or the sleeper is too hot or too cold.

Mental and physical relaxation is a prerequisite for sleep. It should come naturally and without too much effort. The harder you try to relax the more difficult it becomes. A clear conscience and "don't care" attitude is the best sedative in the world.

Many persons have acquired little tricks to help them relax. A warm bath, listening to soothing music, or reading in bed are but a few. Those who like to read in bed should set the stage first by getting all the toilet details cared for and the window open and the alarm wound. Then, when drowsiness and relaxation come, snap off the light and go to sleep.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send a leaflet on insomnia by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

TOMORROW: Juvenile arthritis.

LET HER EAT SUGAR

Mrs. T. writes: My elderly mother has developed such a sweet tooth, she puts sugar in everything, including potatoes. She doesn't care much for meat or fish. Do you think I should let her continue to eat this way?

REPLY

Yes. There is no need for concern if she has been examined by the family doctor and is in good health. If she is not getting all the basic foods, a capsule containing a vitamin mineral supplement is in order.

FRACTURED JAW

K. M. K. W. writes: I broke my jaw some months ago in a car accident. I'm getting along fine but everybody cautions me about falling and bumping it. Does this mean I'll have to be careful the rest of my life?

REPLY

No. A broken jaw is like any other fracture. Once it heals, there is no greater chance of breaking it again than there was in the first place.

STROKE VICTIM

M. R. writes: Can a woman of 63 who is slightly paralyzed from stroke safely go through a gall bladder operation?

REPLY

Much depends upon the woman's physical condition, including the state of the heart and the blood vessels. In such cases the physician in attendance determines whether the degree of discomfort justifies the risk of operation.

ASPIRIN AND BLOOD

L. B. writes: Will taking aspirin every day for 10 years prevent strokes and heart attacks?

REPLY

No. Aspirin has a slight anti-clotting effect on the blood but not enough to prevent clots from developing in the arteries of the heart or brain.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Aside from strong entertainment values, Bill Ballantine's "Wild Tigers and Tame Fleas" provides some invaluable hints to people who may have cause to enter deep woods or jungles—or who crave to join a circus.

Remember, warns Ballantine, that one should beware of all four sides of a camel; that one should never pat an elephant on its trunk; that those cute sea lions have a devastating bite; and that, aside from even better reasons for not putting one's head in a lion's mouth, the king of beasts has the worst case of halitosis in the entire jungle.

"It is not safe," continues Ballantine, "to back up and run from an attacking tiger. Better just stand pat and speak sharply enough." We'll try to remember that, Mr. B.!

The Super Spy—Part One

He walks the streets of Leipzig shyly, a tall crane blinking blandly behind thick glasses. No one asks his name. Everyone knows he is Dr. Klaus Emil Fuchs, the greatest traitor since A.D. 30. He walks the narrow cobbled alleys without a hat, soaking the sun. On the east side of the square, the doctor passes the Rathaus and walks slowly until his lean shadow darkens the stone of Auerbach's Hof.

Perhaps the doctor stops to look. Perhaps not. The Hof was immortalized in Goethe's Faust. In here, an old man sold his soul to the devil for youth. Dr. Fuchs knows that Dr. Faust was a piker. Fuchs sold the childhood of all mankind.

He is free now. He served his time. The British took him from prison a few weeks ago and drove him 180 miles to an airport and put him aboard a Polish airliner. Now, the doctor begins his life anew among the Communists he loves. He is also with his father, old Dr. Emil Fuchs, who was once a Lutheran pastor and is now a Quaker.

The old man was a martinet among Christians. He spoke his mind in and out of the house and he spoke it loud. Dr. Emil was so poor at one time that he used to preach at several Lutheran churches around his home village at Russelsheim, Germany. Before World War I started, the pastor told his flocks that God would punish those who hefted the sword.

God did. The losers lost men and treasure, and the winners lost men and treasure. Then the winners lent money to the losers. Young Klaus grew up in an aura of defeat. He wore a Weimar Republic button to school one day and the monarchist children tore it from his coat and slapped his face. At home, the dinners were made tasteless by long paternal speeches of God, God, God. The boy sickened of it. He hoped the day would come when he would never hear of God. God has granted his wish. Klaus is in Leipzig, Red territory . . .

Once, he studied here. It was truly German then. The university undergraduates were always demonstrating about something political. Klaus joined the gang. He paraded. He made speeches. He talked of a Social Democratic Germany. He was opposed to violence—ardently opposed—but he joined the Reichsbanner, a group of hoodlums who started street fights.

He enjoyed this. He was such a physical coward that, merely to be in the crowd that assaulted the monarchists made him feel big. This was 1930, and a new man was on the way up. This man was a rightist—slightly to the right of slavery — and his name was Hitler. Klaus Fuchs thought that he was funny. A rabble-rouser.

Pastor Emil Fuchs got a new position. He took a post teaching religious science at Kiel University. He sent for Klaus, and told him to stop his studies of physics at Leipzig, that he could study it at Kiel and be with the family. Klaus was obedient. He went home.

There was never any trouble with Klaus Fuchs as a student. He was a perfectionist. Everything he worked on had to be thought out carefully and precisely. As a student physicist, he led his class. As a politician, he was a boob. Again he led the Social Democrats and, as he saw the rise of Adolf Hitler, he saw the decline of his own group.

The solution, he figured, was for the Social Democrats to work temporarily with the Communists. Between the two groups there would be strength enough to crush Hitler's National Socialist Party.

He was wrong. The Communist Party strategy was to permit the Nazis to assume power and, when the German people saw how loathsome Hitler was, the Reds would take over the whole nation. The Reds would then obliterate all parties.

Klaus Fuchs fought the Brown Shirts in the streets of Kiel. They threw him in a river. He became so friendly with the Communists that the Social Democrats read him out of the party. That's when he became a Red. A dedicated Communist . . .

"It Was A Team Victory All The Way", Haney Declares

Manager's Strategy Pays Off

Boyer's Pinch Hit Opens Rally; Mays Belted Fast Pitch

By GIB STALEY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"It was a team victory all the way."

That was Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney's comment in the dressing room Tuesday after guiding the National League to a 5-4 victory over the American League in the 26th All-Star game.

"It's difficult to single out any one player although there was some pretty fine pitching and defensive work. That second baseman of ours, Johnny Temple, did a good job. But so did all of the players."

Strategy Pays Off

In the eighth inning, trailing by one run, Haney's strategy paid off when pinch-hitter Ken Boyer of St. Louis led off with a single and pinch-hitter Dick Groat of the Pittsburgh Pirates sacrificed. A moment later Hank Aaron knocked in the tying run with a sharp single and Willie Mays drove him home with the payoff marker on a booming triple.

"Good strategy?" Haney laughed. "Well, when you're a baseball manager and your strategy works you are a genius.

"When it doesn't work, look out!"

Aaron, named to the team by the only unanimous vote of his National League mates, was beaming all over the dressing room. In addition to his timely eighth inning hit he had a sharp single in the sixth. And he came through with a fielding gem in the fourth inning when he gathered in Gus Triandos' line drive bid for an extra base hit with two on and two out.

Hank Hits Hard

"Boy, I was hitting the ball harder than I had for the last three weeks," said Hank. "That fly I caught off Triandos' bat was hit hard but I was pretty sure I would get it and I did, thank goodness."

Mays, in typical Mays fashion, didn't have much to say about his game-winning blow.

"Just say I hit a fast ball and I hit it pretty good," he summed it up.

All of the hits off Smith were singles. Dale Walker took the loss.

Deb Payton played a bangup game at short for South End and Bob Giles did the same for the Shoppers.

Durocher Denies Managerial Offer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Leo Durocher said today he has received no definite offer to manage a major league club but admitted he had discussed such a possibility with the Chicago White Sox.

The former Brooklyn and New York Giant manager, now an executive with NBC, said rumors of his getting a definite offer to manage stemmed from his friendship with Dave Marx, a New York toy manufacturer.

Everybody knows that Dave and I have been very close friends for 20 years," he said, "and everybody knows that he owns a considerable amount of stock in the White Sox. That's where the rumors started."

Exploding for four runs in the 14th inning, the Knights of Columbus downed Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's tossers in a Rocking Chair Softball League thriller yesterday at Post Field by the score of 5-1.

Four hits, including a pair of triples and a double, coupled with a fielder's choice, enabled Al Sheetz to emerge the winner over Bill Thompson in the longest pitching duel of the season in the seven club circuit.

John Esposito tripled with two aboard and before the Knights were retired in the top of the 14th, Norm Geatz drove in the third run with a single and Norman Sell blasted a three-bagger and was thrown out at the plate trying to stretch it into a home run.

Sheetz gave up eight hits and fanned 10 while Thompson yielded 15 hits and struck out two. The Knights stranded 12 on the bases and the Glassmen left nine.

Esposito paced the Casey stickers with a triple and two singles. Baker had three hits for the losers.

Vets Edge Celanese

In the second extra inning battle of the day, the V. F. W. edged the Celanese A. A. in nine frames at Fort Hill Field by the score of 5-4.

Glenn Kauffman's single, "Bub" Porter's sacrifice and "Butch" Johnson's base wallop scored the deciding run in the second overtime stanza.

The Vets lost the services of Sam Brady, first string catcher, who suffered a broken finger from a foul tip early in the game. Ronnie Cage finished behind the plate.

Jim Eckard banged a triple and single, Dean had two hits and Cage hammered a homer for the V.F.W. Basilio and Ware obtained two hits each for the Silkmen.

Elks Win In 7th

In another close one, the Elks came up with a run in the top of the seventh to nose out the Loyal Order of Moose at Stitcher Field, 3-2.

Jack Bogg's second double of the day, scoring Roy Manges, who had walked, provided the run that broke the 2-2 deadlock in the final stanza.

Johnny Cox belted a two-run homer for the Elks in the first inning. The Moose scored their first run in the third and added another tally in the fourth on Pete Cecil's single, a fielder's choice and Herman Lewis' three-base wallop.

Bill Underdonk turned back the Moose with three hits in 10th triumph of the season. Jack Bopp led the Elks with a pair of two-baggers in three official trips. Scores:

Marge Lindsay Whips Western Open Medalist

Five Curtis Cup Players Score

CHICAGO (UPI) — Medalist Ruth White Miller and Curtis Cup player Meriam Bailey, a former champion, were eliminated Tuesday from the 59th Women's Western Amateur golf championship in extra-hole matches, one of them of record distance.

Five other Curtis Cup players, three of them former Western Amateur champions, won easily.

Mrs. Miller, who equalled the course record of par 75 in qualifying, came back on the second nine to overcome a three-up margin held by Marge Lindsay, Decatur, Ill., after nine holes. But on the 20th hole, she banged into the rough twice to lose to Miss Lindsay's par. Miss Lindsay won the Western in 1951 and has been a member of the Curtis Cup team in the past.

Miss Bailey, the 1957 Western champion, was upset by young Roth, Elkhart, Ind., in a 24-hole match, exceeding the previous modern distance record of 23 holes set on the same course in 1950 when Miss Lindsay beat Grace Lenczyk.

Anne Quast, the 1956 Western champion and current national champion, equalled par for 11 holes to whip Frances Rich, Bainbridge, Ga., 8 and 7. Jo Ann Gunderson, the 1957 National Amateur queen, defeated Mrs. Leroy Weir, Waukesha, Wis., by the same score.

Defending Champion Barbara McIntire, Jupiter, Fla., took a 6 and 5 match from Sandra Spuzich, Indianapolis, Ind. Polly Riley, who won the Western in both 1950 and 1952, defeated Shirley Lindsay, Decatur, Ill. 5 and 4, and Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, Mason City, Iowa, took a 2 up win over Barbara Ann Slobe, Waukegan, Ill.

Corriganville's Hermans beat Burkey's of Kennell's Mill, 9-7, Stringtown routed Fossilville, 17-6 and Cumberland Cement won a 14-13 slugfest from Maple Inn in County Softball League games played yesterday.

The Hermans collected 13 hits including a double and three singles by Kenny Johnson, two doubles and a triple by Don Kreigline and a two-bagger and single by Johnny Price. A running catch by Joe Raygor of a drive from "Sonny" Shroyer's bat to centerfield was the fielding highlight. "Hap" Kennell and Joe Sager accounted for half of Burkey's eight safeties.

Ronnie Logsdon collected four hits in six trips as Stringtown gathered 16 blows in trouncing Fossilville. Robertson's triple was among the losers' eight hits.

Thirty-three hits were recorded in the game at Wellersburg where Bob Crabtree's grand slam in the 7th inning won the game for Cumberland Cement. Bedford Road Beats Rotary

Posts 4-2 Victory; Lions Wallop Elks

Bedford Road's Optimists widened their lead to three games in the Hot Stove Baseball League by downing the Rotary Club last night at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 4-2.

The victory gave Manager Ced Miller's team an 8-1 record. The Lions Club and B'nai B'rith are tied for second place with 5-4 marks.

Homer Hardinger went the route for Bedford Road and yielded six hits while whiffing eight to notch his third straight triumph of the campaign. Ronnie Manges, Rotary twirler, gave up eight hits and fanned eleven.

Harold Hardinger rapped a double and single and Tom Hamilton garnered a pair of singles for the winners.

Eddie Lease, left fielder, and "Jug" Adams, second baseman of Bedford Road, turned in brilliant fielding plays. O'Toole starred at third base for the Rotarians.

At Mason Road Field, the Lions Club drubbed the Elks by the score of 12-3 behind the four-hit twirling of Frank Murray, who struck out 14 and made his season record 4-0.

Stengel Chews Bologna, Says Game Good One

Opines A.L. Stars Lost By Few Feet

By JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Casey Stengel, manager of the American League All-Stars, made no excuses for his team's 5-4 loss to the National League All-Stars today at Forbes Field.

"It was a good game," grunted the old professor, who was chewing on a piece of bologna.

"There's nothing to regret. I was satisfied with the team."

"They (the Nationals) played worse than we did. But they won and that's what counts," shrugged Casey.

"But there's one thing," he added. "You can tell the groundskeepers here the Pirates should lead the league in hitting. That infield is really hard."

The Turning Point?

What was the turning point in the game?

"You know damn well what it was," shot back Stengel.

"If Willie Mays didn't hit that triple, well there's a lot of things I could have done."

Whitey Ford, the losing pitcher, said Mays hit a high fast ball in the eighth inning for the booming triple that scored the winning run.

"I wasn't tired, I just didn't pitch well," said the New York Yankee left-hander dejectedly.

Stengel said if he had gotten by the eighth inning he planned to use Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore's knuckleball artist, in relief.

"How did you like that Bud Daley of Kansas City?" asked Casey. "That Ryne Duren isn't bad either. "We had a lot of good pitchers."

"Don Drysdale of Los Angeles showed us a lot of stuff. I guess he was the best pitcher of the afternoon."

Lost By Few Feet

"We lost the game by only a few feet. If Nellie Fox and Harvey Kuenn straighten out those drives in the ninth you'd be talking to the winning manager, not the loser."

Both Fox and Kuenn hit long fouls into the stands. Fox then singled, took second on a wild pitch before Kuenn fouled out to end the game.

"It Was A Team Victory All The Way", Haney Declares

Manager's Strategy Pays Off

Boyer's Pinch Hit Opens Rally; Mays Belted Fast Pitch

By GIB STALEY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"It was a team victory all the way."

That was Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney's comment in the dressing room Tuesday after guiding the National League to a 5-4 victory over the American League in the 26th All-Star game.

"It's difficult to single out any one player although there was some pretty fine pitching and defensive work. That second baseman of ours, Johnny Temple, did a good job. But so did all of the players."

Strategy Pays Off

In the eighth inning, trailing by one run, Haney's strategy paid off when pinch-hitter Ken Boyer of St. Louis led off with a single and pinch-hitter Dick Groat of the Pittsburgh Pirates sacrificed. A moment later Hank Aaron knocked in the tying run with a sharp single and Willie Mays drove him home with the payoff marker on a booming triple.

"Good strategy?" Haney laughed. "Well, when you're a baseball manager and your strategy works you are a genius.

"When it doesn't work, look out!"

Aaron, named to the team by the only unanimous vote of his National League mates, was beaming all over the dressing room. In addition to his timely eighth inning hit he had a sharp single in the sixth. And he came through with a fielding gem in the fourth inning when he gathered in Gus Triandos' line drive bid for an extra base hit with two on and two out.

Hank Hits Hard

"Boy, I was hitting the ball harder than I had for the last three weeks," said Hank. "That fly I caught off Triandos' bat was hit hard but I was pretty sure I would get it and I did, thank goodness."

Mays, in typical Mays fashion, didn't have much to say about his game-winning blow.

"Just say I hit a fast ball and I hit it pretty good," he summed it up.

Willie Mays' Triple Gives N. L. All-Stars 5-4 Victory

Ford Is Loser, Face Rescued By Antonelli

Giants' Southpaw Victor; Mathews, Kaline Hit Homers

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Mays' 438-foot triple to the ivy-covered right-center field wall in the eighth inning gave the favored National League a 5-4 victory over the American League Tuesday in the 26th All-Star game.

Roy Face, Pittsburgh's unbeaten relief ace who hasn't lost since May 30, 1958, was knocked out of the box in the top half of the eighth by Gus Triandos' two-out double that pushed the Americans ahead briefly 4-3. But Johnny Antonelli of San Francisco saved Face and grabbed the victory by throwing only six pitches.

Ford Is Thumped

A lead-off, pinch single by Ken Boyer of St. Louis, a sacrifice by Pittsburgh's Dick Groat and a run-scoring single by Milwaukee's Hank Aaron preceded the smash by Mays of the San Francisco Giants. The two runs came off veteran Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees who had started the eighth.

A quiet, orderly affair in the first six innings while Vice President Nixon and a capacity crowd basked in the warm sunshine, this game erupted into a frenzied battle of pinch hitters and pinch runners down the stretch.

Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees, shuffled his talent so generously that six different men appeared in the seventh position in the batting order, originally inhabited by Washington's Harmon Killebrew. One of them, Pete Runnels of Boston, was taken out for another pinch hitter, Roy Sievers of Washington, before he ever got to the plate.

But in the end it was Mays' long drive off Ford that wrapped up the National victory, closing the American League's series lead to 15-11.

Willie's smash sailed over the head of Detroit's Harvey Kuenn in right center. The ball bounced against the scenic wall near the 438-foot mark while Aaron dashed home with the winning run. The San Francisco center fielder reached third—and stayed there.

34,763 Show Up

A paid attendance of 35,277 — full capacity—was announced although only 34,763 showed up at Forbes Field on this perfect afternoon. They watched Los Angeles' Don Drysdale throw three perfect innings at the Americans and saw Lew Burdette of Milwaukee give up only one run—a homer by Al Kaline of Detroit in the fourth — during his three-inning stint.

After Chicago's Early Wynn, the American starter, yielded a first-inning homer to Milwaukee's Ed Mathews, he settled down and allowed no more scoring during his three-inning workout. Ryne Duren, the Yanks' fireballing relief man, whirled through three shutout innings, leaving with the score tied at 1-1 after six innings.

Bunning Is Jolted

The Nationals broke the tie by ripping into Jim Bunning of Detroit for two runs in the seventh. After Ernie Banks of Chicago collected his second double, Bunning retired the next two batters. Then Del Crandall of Milwaukee bounced a first pitch into center, scoring Banks. Bill Mazeroski of Pittsburgh singled scoring Crandall but the Pirate second baseman was out trying to stretch his hit into a double.

Elroy Face, Pirate relief pitcher, had racked up two easy outs in the eighth before the Americans started to roll. Nellie Fox of Chicago singled, Harvey Kuenn of Detroit walked and Vic Power of Cleveland singled to score a run.

Then 40-year-old Ted Williams of Boston, a pinch hitter, walked to load the bases.

Face Knocked Out

Gus Triandos, the Baltimore catcher, doubled down the left field line scoring Kuenn and Power and putting the American League ahead 4-3. That was all for Face. Antonelli walked pinch hitter Sievers, then made pinch hitter Sherm Lollar of Chicago hit into a force play to end the inning.

Antonelli gave way to pinch hitter Boyer in the eighth as the Nationals rallied again and Manager Fred Haney of Milwaukee brought in Chicago's Don Elston to close the door on the American Leaguers in the ninth.

Elston had a little trouble. After retiring the first two men, Fox singled. Before the hit Fox had sent a screaming line drive into the stands, barely foul. Kuenn also lashed a ball down the left field line that just went foul before he popped to Boyer for the game-ending out.

Second Game Aug. 3

It was close enough to add new interest to the second stanza of the 1959 All-Star follies, to be played in Los Angeles Aug. 3.

Team To Practice

B'nai B'rith of the Hot Stove League will practice Thursday at 9:30 a. m., at Penn Avenue Field. Players are requested to bring tickets for the All-Star game with them.

AL'S HOMER TIES IT UP—Al Kaline of Detroit scores for the American League to tie it up at 1-1 in the fourth inning of the All-Star game against National League players yesterday at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh. It was Kaline's first home run in five All-Star games. Greeting Kaline at the plate is Moose Skowron of the Yankees. The National Leaguers won, 5-4. (AP Photofax)

Globetrotters' Clowning Baffles Fans In Russia

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Harlem Globetrotters basketball team Tuesday called in a Soviet announcer to explain its brand of ball to baffled Russians.

The Trotters opened a nine-game tour of the Soviet Union by beating a San Francisco Chinese-American team 73 - 55 Monday night before a puzzled audience of 14,000.

The spectators, who take basketball very seriously, did not understand the clowning of the Trotters and sat in silence through the first half.

They warmed up slightly in the second half when they realized the team was putting on a show for them by ridiculing the referee and keeping up a steady flow of chatter.

Promoter Abe Saperstein said he was calling in a Russian announcer to explain the games, because "we can't change our format overnight."

Apprentice jockey Jimmy Bennett, 23, of Lexington, Ky., rode his first winner, Alley Gal, at Jamaica, N. Y., on Oct. 29, 1958.

Halimi Is 8-5 Choice To Keep Bantam Crown

Faces Jose Becerra In Los Angeles Ring

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fellow countrymen of young Jose Becerra of Mexico swarmed into town Tuesday to pull for their latest idol to win the world bantamweight championship.

But the titleholder, Alphonse Halimi of France, remained the general choice to retain the crown in the 15-round nationally televised fight Wednesday night.

It goes on in Los Angeles' new six-million-dollar Memorial Sports Arena at 7 p.m. (PDT). ABC will do the TV, with this area blacked out for a radius of some 300 miles. There will be no radio broadcast.

The latest word from the betting fraternity was 8-5 on Halimi, with some money going at 2-1.

Neither is the waltzing, clinching type and both can belt with either hand.

Matchmaker George Parnassus, who made the fight, indicated Tuesday that his previous estimate of a gate close to $150,000 might be bettered if tickets keep moving Tuesday and Wednesday as they have the past few days.

This will be Halimi's second defense of the title he won April 1, 1957, when he outpointed Mario d'Agata of Italy in 15 rounds in Paris.

Willie Mays' Triple Gives N. L. All-Stars 5-4 Victory

Ford Is Loser, Face Rescued By Antonelli

Giants' Southpaw Victor; Mathews, Kaline Hit Homers

Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Mays' 438-foot triple to the ivy-covered right-center field wall in the eighth inning gave the favored National League a 5-4 victory over the American League Tuesday in the 26th All-Star game.

Roy Face, Pittsburgh's unbeaten relief ace who hasn't lost since May 30, 1958, was knocked out of the box in the top half of the eighth by Gus Triandos' two-out double that pushed the Americans ahead briefly 4-3. But Johnny Antonelli of San Francisco saved Face and grabbed the victory by throwing only six pitches.

Willie's smash sailed over the head of Detroit's Harvey Kuenn in right center. The ball bounced against the scenic wall near the 438-foot mark while Aaron dashed home with the winning run. The San Francisco center fielder reached third—and stayed there.

Gus Triandos, the Baltimore catcher, doubled down the left field line scoring Kuenn and Power and putting the American League ahead 4-3. That was all for Face. Antonelli walked pinch hitter Sievers, then made pinch hitter Sherm Lollar of Chicago hit into a force play to end the inning.

Antonelli gave way to pinch hitter Boyer in the eighth as the Nationals rallied again and Manager Fred Haney of Milwaukee brought in Chicago's Don Elston to close the door on the American Leaguers in the ninth.

Elston had a little trouble. After retiring the first two men, Fox singled. Before the hit Fox had sent a screaming line drive into the stands, barely foul. Kuenn also lashed a ball down the left field line that just went foul before he popped to Boyer for the game-ending out.

Globetrotters' Clowning Baffles Fans In Russia

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Harlem Globetrotters basketball team Tuesday called in a Soviet announcer to explain its brand of ball to baffled Russians.

The Trotters opened a nine-game tour of the Soviet Union by beating a San Francisco Chinese-American team 73 - 55 Monday night before a puzzled audience of 14,000.

The spectators, who take basketball very seriously, did not understand the clowning of the Trotters and sat in silence through the first half.

They warmed up slightly in the second half when they realized the team was putting on a show for them by ridiculing the referee and keeping up a steady flow of chatter.

Promoter Abe Saperstein said he was calling in a Russian announcer to explain the games, because "we can't change our format overnight."

Apprentice jockey Jimmy Bennett, 23, of Lexington, Ky., rode his first winner, Alley Gal, at Jamaica, N. Y., on Oct. 29, 1958.

Halimi Is 8-5 Choice To Keep Bantam Crown

Faces Jose Becerra In Los Angeles Ring

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fellow countrymen of young Jose Becerra of Mexico swarmed into town Tuesday to pull for their latest idol to win the world bantamweight championship.

But the titleholder, Alphonse Halimi of France, remained the general choice to retain the crown in the 15-round nationally televised fight Wednesday night.

It goes on in Los Angeles' new six-million-dollar Memorial Sports Arena at 7 p.m. (PDT). ABC will do the TV, with this area blacked out for a radius of some 300 miles. There will be no radio broadcast.

The latest word from the betting fraternity was 8-5 on Halimi, with some money going at 2-1.

Neither is the waltzing, clinching type and both can belt with either hand.

Matchmaker George Parnassus, who made the fight, indicated Tuesday that his previous estimate of a gate close to $150,000 might be bettered if tickets keep moving Tuesday and Wednesday as they have the past few days.

This will be Halimi's second defense of the title he won April 1, 1957, when he outpointed Mario d'Agata of Italy in 15 rounds in Paris.

Manager John Daum's Dodgers cracked the four-game winning streak of the Tigers and tied the latter for first place in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by winning yesterday morning at Post Field by the score of 12-5.

Tom Stitcher went the route for the victors and fanned nine. Tom Zembower, Tigers' hurler, also mowed down nine on strikes.

Terry Lease collected three hits while Tom Stitcher, Larry Ort, Eddie Piper and Bobby Koelker had two each for the winners. Lease and Stitcher banged doubles and the latter batted in three runs. Rich Aman slammed a pair of triples and Keyser had two singles for the Tigers. Zembower also had a three-base hit.

In another morning game, the Senators edged the Athletics by the score of 5-4 at Stitcher Field.

Mike Wilt's walk, Jack Zembower's single and a two-base hit by Don Wagner scored the winning run in the 5th inning.

Jimmy Cornelius, Senators' twirler, whiffed 13 and yielded only three hits.

Lauer Shatters Hurdles Records

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Martin Lauer of West Germany Tuesday night bettered the world record for the 110-meter hurdles and then was clocked in the fastest time ever for the 200-meter hurdles around a turn.

The German's time was 13.2 seconds for 110 meters and :22.5 for the 200. His clocking for the shorter race clipped two-tenths of a second off the listed world mark of :13.4 held jointly by Jack Davis of Glendale, Calif., and Milt Campbell of Plainfield, N.J.

The world record for the 200 on a straightaway is 22.1 seconds set by American Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem at Raleigh, N.C., May 17, 1958.

American Charlie Tidwell's time of :22.7 is listed in the record books as the fastest for the 200-meter hurdles around a turn.

In both races Willie May of Blue Island, Ill., finished second to Lauer. May was timed in :13.6 and :22.9. Lauer grabbed the lead early in each race and pulled away steadily.

Cubs Farm Pair

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs sent two pitchers to the club's Fort Worth farm team Tuesday. One, left-hander Seth Morehead (0-3), was obtained from the Philadelphia Phillies May 12 in exchange for Taylor Phillips. The other, Joe Schaffernoth (1-0), came up from the Cubs farm system this year.

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Author Boris Pasternak, who has kept very silent since the Soviet government frowned on his best selling novel, "Dr. Zhivago," has sold "The Last Summer," which he wrote before "Zhivago," for motion pictures.

It's a very interesting story how Christopher Sergel, with the help of the William Morris office, was able to obtain the rights. Sergel has already written the screen treatment and he said he would never have been able to get "The Last Summer" if George Reavy, a friend of Pasternak's since 1929, hadn't obtained permission from Pasternak to translate it and do with it whatever he saw fit.

"Last Summer" is a love story which takes place during the last summer before the revolution and in a sense it was the last chance people had to be individuals.

"The Young Philadelphians" brought that deft comedienne Billie Burke back into the limelight again, and reminded producers who may have forgotten that she hasn't lost a bit of her endearing charm.

John Ford has signed Billie for "Captain Buffalo" which she is making on the Warner lot, with Pat Ford (John's son) and Willis Goldbeck as co-producers. The juvenile leads are, of course, Connie Towers and Jeff Hunter. The movie is based on a story by Goldbeck and James Warner Bella.

Billie's second book, "Powder On My Nose," comes out in September.

"Oslo, Norway, calling," was, of course, Sonja Henie on the trans-Atlantic telephone. She was in a state because someone had printed that she and Niels Onstad were skating on thin ice.

"It's not true. Our marriage is happy. He's right here beside me," Sonja said with such indignation the telephone sizzled.

She also said that the report that Khrushchev would be her houseguest is completely untrue. "I was asked to let him use my house when he came to Oslo," said Sonja, "but I refused."

"Very wise of you," I told her. Her home, where I had luncheon when I was in Oslo 10 years ago, is one of the showplaces of Norway.

As long ago as when Deborah Kerr was in Switzerland she wrote to me saying she had no intention of marrying anyone until she was legally free to do so.

The news that she had made a financial settlement with Tony Bartley led to the report that Debbie might immediately marry Peter Viertel, who has been here with her while she is making "Beloved Infidel."

Her first divorce would have been final June 9, but she has amended it, which, I suppose, means it will take another year. I am sorry that she hasn't asked for part custody of her two charming little girls.

Callow Steps Down As Middies' Coach

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Russell S. (Rusty) Callow, who attained rowing's highest coaching honors in the twilight of a 37-year career, stepped down officially Tuesday as Navy crew coach.

Ill health forced the resignation which Rear Adm. Charles L. Melson, Naval Academy Superintendent, accepted "with extreme regret" although it had been expected.

Manager John Daum's Dodgers cracked the four-game winning streak of the Tigers and tied the latter for first place in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by winning yesterday morning at Post Field by the score of 12-5.

Tom Stitcher went the route for the victors and fanned nine. Tom Zembower, Tigers' hurler, also mowed down nine on strikes.

Terry Lease collected three hits while Tom Stitcher, Larry Ort, Eddie Piper and Bobby Koelker had two each for the winners. Lease and Stitcher banged doubles and the latter batted in three runs. In another morning game, the Senators edged the Athletics by the score of 5-4 at Stitcher Field.

Lauer Shatters Hurdles Records

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Martin Lauer of West Germany Tuesday night bettered the world record for the 110-meter hurdles and then was clocked in the fastest time ever for the 200-meter hurdles around a turn.

The German's time was 13.2 seconds for 110 meters and :22.5 for the 200. His clocking for the shorter race clipped two-tenths of a second off the listed world mark of :13.4 held jointly by Jack Davis of Glendale, Calif., and Milt Campbell of Plainfield, N.J.

The world record for the 200 on a straightaway is 22.1 seconds set by American Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem at Raleigh, N.C., May 17, 1958.

American Charlie Tidwell's time of :22.7 is listed in the record books as the fastest for the 200-meter hurdles around a turn.

In both races Willie May of Blue Island, Ill., finished second to Lauer. May was timed in :13.6 and :22.9. Lauer grabbed the lead early in each race and pulled away steadily.

Cubs Farm Pair

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs sent two pitchers to the club's Fort Worth farm team Tuesday. One, left-hander Seth Morehead (0-3), was obtained from the Philadelphia Phillies May 12 in exchange for Taylor Phillips. The other, Joe Schaffernoth (1-0), came up from the Cubs farm system this year.

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Author Boris Pasternak, who has kept very silent since the Soviet government frowned on his best selling novel, "Dr. Zhivago," has sold "The Last Summer," which he wrote before "Zhivago," for motion pictures.

It's a very interesting story how Christopher Sergel, with the help of the William Morris office, was able to obtain the rights. Sergel has already written the screen treatment and he said he would never have been able to get "The Last Summer" if George Reavy, a friend of Pasternak's since 1929, hadn't obtained permission from Pasternak to translate it and do with it whatever he saw fit.

"Last Summer" is a love story which takes place during the last summer before the revolution and in a sense it was the last chance people had to be individuals.

"The Young Philadelphians" brought that deft comedienne Billie Burke back into the limelight again, and reminded producers who may have forgotten that she hasn't lost a bit of her endearing charm.

John Ford has signed Billie for "Captain Buffalo" which she is making on the Warner lot, with Pat Ford (John's son) and Willis Goldbeck as co-producers. The juvenile leads are, of course, Connie Towers and Jeff Hunter. The movie is based on a story by Goldbeck and James Warner Bella.

Billie's second book, "Powder On My Nose," comes out in September.

"Oslo, Norway, calling," was, of course, Sonja Henie on the trans-Atlantic telephone. She was in a state because someone had printed that she and Niels Onstad were skating on thin ice.

"It's not true. Our marriage is happy. He's right here beside me," Sonja said with such indignation the telephone sizzled.

She also said that the report that Khrushchev would be her houseguest is completely untrue. "I was asked to let him use my house when he came to Oslo," said Sonja, "but I refused."

"Very wise of you," I told her. Her home, where I had luncheon when I was in Oslo 10 years ago, is one of the showplaces of Norway.

As long ago as when Deborah Kerr was in Switzerland she wrote to me saying she had no intention of marrying anyone until she was legally free to do so.

The news that she had made a financial settlement with Tony Bartley led to the report that Debbie might immediately marry Peter Viertel, who has been here with her while she is making "Beloved Infidel."

Her first divorce would have been final June 9, but she has amended it, which, I suppose, means it will take another year. I am sorry that she hasn't asked for part custody of her two charming little girls.

Callow Steps Down As Middies' Coach

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Russell S. (Rusty) Callow, who attained rowing's highest coaching honors in the twilight of a 37-year career, stepped down officially Tuesday as Navy crew coach.

Ill health forced the resignation which Rear Adm. Charles L. Melson, Naval Academy Superintendent, accepted "with extreme regret" although it had been expected.

Card of Thanks

We take this means of extending our sincere thanks and appreciation to all the friends and neighbors who were so kind during our recent bereavement, the death of Edgar W. Shuck.
THE FAMILY OF EDGAR W. SHUCK

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our bereavement, the death of our beloved sister and aunt, Rose Dempsy. We especially wish to thank the ministers, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral. To all others who in any manner rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.
Sister, Clara D. Sigler, nieces, Clara Livingood, Clara Heckman and Kathleen Lowney.

In Memoriam

A tribute of love to the memory of our dear husband and father, Oliver Hickman, who passed away, July 8, 1958.

Sad and sudden was the call,
Of one so dearly loved by all;
A bitter grief, a shock severe,
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died.
To think you could not say good-bye
Before you closed your eyes.
For all your friends you did your best,
Oh, God grant you eternal rest.
WIFE and SON

Card of Thanks

We take this means of extending our sincere thanks and appreciation to all the friends and neighbors who were so kind during our recent bereavement, the death of Edgar W. Shuck.
THE FAMILY OF EDGAR W. SHUCK

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our bereavement, the death of our beloved sister and aunt, Rose Dempsy. We especially wish to thank the ministers, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral. To all others who in any manner rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.
Sister, Clara D. Sigler, nieces, Clara Livingood, Clara Heckman and Kathleen Lowney.

In Memoriam

A tribute of love to the memory of our dear husband and father, Oliver Hickman, who passed away, July 8, 1958.

Sad and sudden was the call,
Of one so dearly loved by all;
A bitter grief, a shock severe,
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died.
To think you could not say good-bye
Before you closed your eyes.
For all your friends you did your best,
Oh, God grant you eternal rest.
WIFE and SON

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to declare Allen Taylor Ramsey, a minor, and Tedford Eugene Ramsey, a minor, to be the legally adopted children of Ray L. Foley, married. The Bill states that the said Allen Taylor Ramsey and Tedford Eugene Ramsey were born to Peggy Jane Foley (formerly Ramsey), and her former husband, Allen Eugene Ramsey, Allen Taylor Ramsey being born on March 30, 1947, and Tedford Eugene Ramsey being born on January 21, 1949; that the said Peggy Jane Foley was divorced A Vinculo Matrimonii from Allen Eugene Ramsey by decree of January, 1955, and by said decree was given the custody of the two children, Allen Taylor Ramsey and Tedford Eugene Ramsey; that since the re-marriage of their mother to Ray L. Foley, Petitioner, the said Allen Taylor Ramsey and Tedford Eugene Ramsey have resided continuously with the Petitioner and his wife; that the present address of Allen Eugene Ramsey, natural father of the two children, is unknown to the Petitioner, his wife, or the two children, his last known address being Elizabeth, New Jersey.

It is thereupon this 19th day of June, 1959, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Petitioner cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once each week for four successive weeks before the 20th day of July, 1959, giving notice to the said Allen Eugene Ramsey of the object and substance of this Petition and warning him to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 5th day of August, 1959, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Rails Capture Spotlight In Rising Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rails carried the ball when industrials faltered after an eight-session rise to record levels and they did it with vigor that sparked renewed demand for the whole list.

Profit-taking—an anticipated occurrence after a 12 billion dollar gain in eight sessions—kept industrials irregular most of the day while the spotlight turned on a strong and active rail group which reached its best levels since July 25, 1956.

The industrials — autos and chemicals in particular—shared the limelight in the final minutes of trading, soaring to further new record high ground on activity which had reporting tickers running late at the closing gong.

General Motors ran up over 3 points, Chrysler 1, American Motors and Ford nearly a point each, with General Motors second on the day's active list. Du Pont spurted 3¼, Westinghouse Electric 2 points, General Electric 1¼.

New York Central starred as the day's most actively traded issue with a gain of 1¾ points to 30¾. Elsewhere among the rails, Santa Fe, Delaware & Hudson, Kansas City Southern, Louisville & Nashville, Nickel Plate, Norfolk & Western rose around a point to 1½ points. Western Maryland gained 4½.

The interest in rails was hailed since this group had lagged noticeably as industrials forged to all-time peaks, and a confirmation by rails of any industrial highs is seen as basic to a healthy market.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Egg And You

Eggs, a bargain source of protein, should rate a special place in your diet.

Since breakfast is such an important meal and the one at which they're usually served, it's a wise homemaker who calls upon inexpensive, high protein eggs to help fill menu needs.

Do you know that when you purchase a dozen eggs you are buying 1½ pounds of the finest quality protein—not to mention their mineral and vitamin value.

I can't emphasize too strongly the vital place breakfast plays in the meal line-up for the day. It is exactly what its name implies—break-the-fast. And, breakfast should provide at least one-fourth to one-third of a person's food needs for the day. If you eat less—you're not getting the adequate nutrition that is required. And, strange as it may seem, you can't make up the loss of a good breakfast to your health even if you have a good luncheon.

You should eat an egg a day—or at least three a week. They give immeasurable strength and health. About 27 billion eggs are produced annually in the United States alone, so you can't say they're unavailable as they are in some countries.

Eggs are a valuable as well as interesting food because they contain all the elements necessary for normal nutrition. Minerals (especially iron), protein, vitamin and fat are found in eggs.

Like milk, eggs constitute a complete food. Actually, the protein of an egg white contains little that can't be obtained from the protein of milk. But, the same is not true of the yolk. It has qualities which milk lacks. The yolk, for instance, has more iron than milk. Its proteins are of high quality and easily utilized, it is as rich a source of vitamin A and B as milk, and it also contains vitamin D.

The yolk of an egg is a very complex thing. To explain it in another way—the elements which give you energy are found in the yolk of an egg in the form of protein and fat. And, the growth elements exist in the white or albumen, in the form of protein.

Women have long known that there's a beauty angle to eggs. In 1506, the dark-skinned Infanta Juanita of Spain was told that hard-cooked eggs would lighten her skin. From then on the beauty would eat nothing else.

Many more diet hints are given in my handy booklet, YOUR BEAUTY DIET, which will provide you with a pattern of safe, laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — July soybeans were heavy, but other grains were mostly higher today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ⅞ to up ⅝; corn up ¼ to ⅝; oats up ⅛ to ¼; new oats off ⅛ to ¼; rye up 1¼ to 1¾; soybeans off 2 to up ⅞.

Wheat prices grew stronger on mill demand and scattered buying. There was some early hedge selling. Reports of bakery and other flour trade influenced some of the buying. A commercial broker bought September.

Corn advanced after an early decline. There was heavy buying of July against sales of September at a 4 cent difference. Elevator and export houses were buyers, while commission houses sold September.

Export subsidies were granted on 1,350,000 bushels of corn. Bids on 661,489 bushels of oats were rejected.

Oats also rallied after a weak start in the old contracts, and closed easy. A cash house sold December early. Local traders pressed the market and covered on the rally. Commercial houses bought new September and March oats.

Rye scored gains of more than a cent in every contract.

In soybeans, July continued its usual independent course and was off 2 cents a bushel. Active buying of November and January beans sparked gains in the rest of the market. Some November was bought against sales of September.

Local CCC sales of beans yesterday were 68,527 bushels, bringing the total to 19,821,000. Export sales indicated in wheat included a cargo of hard wheat to Israel and two cargoes to Yugoslavia.

Rails Capture Spotlight In Rising Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rails carried the ball when industrials faltered after an eight-session rise to record levels and they did it with vigor that sparked renewed demand for the whole list.

Profit-taking—an anticipated occurrence after a 12 billion dollar gain in eight sessions—kept industrials irregular most of the day while the spotlight turned on a strong and active rail group which reached its best levels since July 25, 1956.

The industrials — autos and chemicals in particular—shared the limelight in the final minutes of trading, soaring to further new record high ground on activity which had reporting tickers running late at the closing gong.

General Motors ran up over 3 points, Chrysler 1, American Motors and Ford nearly a point each, with General Motors second on the day's active list. Du Pont spurted 3¼, Westinghouse Electric 2 points, General Electric 1¼.

New York Central starred as the day's most actively traded issue with a gain of 1¾ points to 30¾. Elsewhere among the rails, Santa Fe, Delaware & Hudson, Kansas City Southern, Louisville & Nashville, Nickel Plate, Norfolk & Western rose around a point to 1½ points. Western Maryland gained 4½.

The interest in rails was hailed since this group had lagged noticeably as industrials forged to all-time peaks, and a confirmation by rails of any industrial highs is seen as basic to a healthy market.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Egg And You

Eggs, a bargain source of protein, should rate a special place in your diet.

Since breakfast is such an important meal and the one at which they're usually served, it's a wise homemaker who calls upon inexpensive, high protein eggs to help fill menu needs.

Do you know that when you purchase a dozen eggs you are buying 1½ pounds of the finest quality protein—not to mention their mineral and vitamin value.

I can't emphasize too strongly the vital place breakfast plays in the meal line-up for the day. It is exactly what its name implies—break-the-fast. And, breakfast should provide at least one-fourth to one-third of a person's food needs for the day. If you eat less—you're not getting the adequate nutrition that is required. And, strange as it may seem, you can't make up the loss of a good breakfast to your health even if you have a good luncheon.

You should eat an egg a day—or at least three a week. They give immeasurable strength and health. About 27 billion eggs are produced annually in the United States alone, so you can't say they're unavailable as they are in some countries.

Eggs are a valuable as well as interesting food because they contain all the elements necessary for normal nutrition. Minerals (especially iron), protein, vitamin and fat are found in eggs.

Like milk, eggs constitute a complete food. Actually, the protein of an egg white contains little that can't be obtained from the protein of milk. But, the same is not true of the yolk. It has qualities which milk lacks. The yolk, for instance, has more iron than milk. Its proteins are of high quality and easily utilized, it is as rich a source of vitamin A and B as milk, and it also contains vitamin D.

The yolk of an egg is a very complex thing. To explain it in another way—the elements which give you energy are found in the yolk of an egg in the form of protein and fat. And, the growth elements exist in the white or albumen, in the form of protein.

Women have long known that there's a beauty angle to eggs. In 1506, the dark-skinned Infanta Juanita of Spain was told that hard-cooked eggs would lighten her skin. From then on the beauty would eat nothing else.

Many more diet hints are given in my handy booklet, YOUR BEAUTY DIET, which will provide you with a pattern of safe, laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — July soybeans were heavy, but other grains were mostly higher today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ⅞ to up ⅝; corn up ¼ to ⅝; oats up ⅛ to ¼; new oats off ⅛ to ¼; rye up 1¼ to 1¾; soybeans off 2 to up ⅞.

Wheat prices grew stronger on mill demand and scattered buying. There was some early hedge selling. Reports of bakery and other flour trade influenced some of the buying. A commercial broker bought September.

Corn advanced after an early decline. There was heavy buying of July against sales of September at a 4 cent difference. Elevator and export houses were buyers, while commission houses sold September.

Export subsidies were granted on 1,350,000 bushels of corn. Bids on 661,489 bushels of oats were rejected.

Oats also rallied after a weak start in the old contracts, and closed easy. A cash house sold December early. Local traders pressed the market and covered on the rally. Commercial houses bought new September and March oats.

Rye scored gains of more than a cent in every contract.

In soybeans, July continued its usual independent course and was off 2 cents a bushel. Active buying of November and January beans sparked gains in the rest of the market. Some November was bought against sales of September.

Local CCC sales of beans yesterday were 68,527 bushels, bringing the total to 19,821,000. Export sales indicated in wheat included a cargo of hard wheat to Israel and two cargoes to Yugoslavia.

Judge Suggests Agreement On Sewage Dispute

Westernport May Be Enjoined

After a day-long hearing in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday, Associate Judge D. K. McLaughlin of Hagerstown suggested that three Westernport property owners and the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport get together and settle their disagreement over an alleged nuisance caused by the depositing of sewage on the complainants' property.

Judge McLaughlin informed the parties to the dispute that he would retain jurisdiction and hoped that the Town of Westernport would do something to correct the situation. He added that an injunction will be granted if the parties cannot work out an agreement, but the town officials will be given a reasonable time to take the corrective measures.

Complaint Filed

The bill of complaint in this long-standing dispute was filed in equity May 9, 1958, by Jacob V. Wilson and Thelma R. Wilson, his wife, and Marshall Wilson, Jacob's brother, against the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport. They sought an injunction ordering the town officials to abate the nuisance caused by the flow of raw sewage along a run on their property.

There also was a plea in the bill of complaint for $25,000 damages.

Witnesses told the Hagerstown jurist, substituting for Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, that this dispute has continued at least four years. Some 250-feet of 48-inch drainage pipe has been on the Wlisons' property since 1955.

The town intended to install the pipe through the Wilson property, but the Wilsons refused to sign the necessary agreement. Jacob Wilson insisted that 500 feet of pipe be laid.

Objection To Line

Horace P. Whitworth Sr. and Horace P. Whitworth Jr., the attorneys for the town, said that an objection to this 48-inch line was raised by the State Health Department, which argued that storm and sanitary sewage should be separated.

The town attorneys also called attention to the fact that a sewage system for the entire town will soon be constructed under an agreement with the Upper Potomac River Commission. A draft of the proposed agreement between the commission and the town was delivered to a representative of the town on June 11.

The complaint concerns sewage which drains from Greene's Addition of Westernport down across the Wilson property and eventually into George's Creek.

Eight witnesses were heard at yesterday's court session. They included all three Wilsons, Philip Hartig, Frostburg engineer who did a sewage survey for the Town of Westernport in 1954; J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian with the Health Department here; Harry Richards, former Westernport councilman; Okey Michael, former Westernport mayor, and Ray Wilt, present mayor of Westernport.

Attorneys for the Wilsons are Thomas Lohr Richards, this city, and H. G. Shores of Keyser.

Corps Pleased With Condition Of Flood Job

Officials of the Corps of Engineers are well pleased with the way the City of Cumberland is maintaining its flood protection facilities.

All parts of the $18,100,000 system were found in excellent condition last night when they were inspected by P. H. Lowe, chief of Operations for the Washington District of the Corps of Engineers, and Rex E. Dexter, who served as resident engineer for the project.

They were accompanied by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who has been charged with the responsibility for maintaining the project, and Roy Maphis, assistant superintendent of the five-man maintenance crew.

The inspection, Mr. Nuzum reported, was detailed and included scrutiny of all of the levees, flood walls and pumping stations.

The Corps of Engineers officials, Mr. Nuzum said, came here at the city's request and are trying to help the city keep the project in top condition at minimum cost.

New Generation Visits Washington's Cabin Here

Over 300 visitors signed the register at George Washington's Cabin in Riverside Park last month, according to Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, member of the City Park Board.

Many of the visitors represent a new generation becoming familiar with the rich historical heritage of the Queen City—gateway to the West in Colonial times.

The visitors also include a sprinkling of older residents who stop at the park to pay another visit to the historic cabin which is being kept open on Wednesdays from 1 to 5 p. m. this summer by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

People come from near and far to visit the cabin, Mrs. Findlay said.

The nearest visitor, she said, was the late Dr. C. W. F. Snyder, whose home adjoined Riverside Park, and the most distant a Mrs. Aswell, from Capetown, Africa, who visited the historical shrine here several years ago.

The youngest, she said, was a five-day-old child and the oldest a 92-year-old area resident who spent an hour at the cabin, spitting tobacco juice over the stone fireplace.

Flags of Colonial America and the British Empire banners similar to those used when the cabin served as headquarters for Washington during early Colonial days, fly at the entrance of the cabin.

Today's American flag waves from the Riverside Park flagpole.

Mrs. Findlay said the rehabilitation of the cabin is complete except for new wiring and reported that this will be done before the Cresap Society holds its national convention here August 8.

VA then has up to one year after the 1960 deadline for processing GI loan applications received before that date.

Next year's deadline does not apply to Korean conflict veterans who have until January 31, 1965, to make use of their GI Loan privilege, to purchase a home, farm or business.

Sen. North Asks Postponement Of Blue Cross Hike

BALTIMORE (AP) — State Sen. John-Clarence North (D-Talbot) asked the state insurance commissioner Tuesday to withhold a Blue Cross rate decision until completion of a study by a legislative committee.

North is chairman of a committee directed to look into the entire Blue Cross hospitalization insurance picture.

A commission hearing on a request for a 24.5 per cent increase in Blue Cross rates will be held July 15.

North, in asking Insurance Commissioner F. Douglass Sears to withhold a decision on the request, noted that his study committee was named only last week and has not held its first meeting.

The committee was set up to survey the Blue Cross plan and report to the Legislative Council, between-sessions screening arm of the General Assembly, on any hospital costs or possible changes in Blue Cross coverage.

Escaped Dog Is Caught By Two Brothers Here

The dog which escaped from the baggage car of the B&O Capitol Limited when it stopped at the Queen City station on June 27 apparently has been located here.

Yesterday John and Tom Growden, 30 West Third Street, caught the dog while it was roaming in their neighborhood. They had head about it in local newspapers.

"Blackie," a female dog which is part spitz and part spaniel, was being taken to a child in Holbrook, Ariz., who is there for her health.

It is owned by Mrs. Louise M. Hamilton, of Washington, D. C., who was taking the dog to her daughter.

When the dog answered to its name yesterday the boys caught it and turned it over to the B&O baggage station attendant who had the dog crated for its journey to Arizona.

A spokesman for the railroad said last night the dog will be placed on Train Number 9 which will leave here about 6 p. m. today.

LaVale Voters Must Register By July 18

Area Referendum Scheduled Aug. 18

Residents of LaVale were reminded yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors that they have only 10 more working days in which to register so they may vote August 18 on the proposed LaVale fire tax.

During June comparatively few LaVale residents were numbered among the 28 new registrants.

The total number of registered voters as of July 1 was 37,378. Included were 36,994 white persons, 383 Negroes and one person of Oriental extraction. There were 21,116 Republicans and 15,992 Democrats registered at the end of June.

June registrants signed up at the Court House by John R. Kelly, Democrat registrar, and Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar, included 15 Republicans and 13 Republicans. Offsetting the new registrants were 39 removals. Thirty-five were removed because of death. They included 18 Democrats and 17 Republicans. Four others were removed at their own request that they might register elsewhere.

Three other voters changed their political affiliation from Republican to Democrat in June. Twelve others transferred from one district or precinct to another and five others changed their name or address only.

During June only three LaVale residents registered. Two others transferred to District 29 in LaVale. Yesterday, two more LaVale residents registered to vote.

The office of the Board of Election Supervisors in the Court House basement is open for registration from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturdays. However, Saturday, July 18, 30 days before the special referendum, is the last day for residents of the LaVale area served by the Volunteer Fire Department to register or transfer their registration to the affected district.

A fire tax not to exceed 10 cents on each $100 of assessable property is authorized by House Bill 336, passed at the last session of the General Assembly in Annapolis. This will become effective if approved by a majority of those voting in the special referendum August 18.

Both youths were committed to the County Jail in default of bond.

City Police arrested the two youths early Sunday morning in connection with the theft of eight cases of soup valued at $35.20 from the warehouse of H. E. Douglass on Springdale Street.

Tax Collections Now Approach $3 Million Level

Four Per Cent Discount Allowed

Allegany County taxpayers have paid nearly $3,000,000 in county and state real estate taxes since the bills were mailed out shortly before May 30, County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff reported yesterday.

Collections at the Court House have tapered off considerably since the arrival of July. This month, the discount on county taxes is four per cent compared with five per cent in June. In August it drops to three per cent. Interest will be charged beginning September 1.

Mr. Orndorff, who began his duties April 7, is Allegany County's first county-wide tax collector. Previously the county was divided into three tax collection districts.

Consolidation of all of the tax collection duties in the single office have crowded the facilities, according to Mr. Orndorff. There is insufficient storage space for one thing.

The collector and his assistants also found difficulty in serving the heavy mob of last minute taxpayers in June.

Inexperience was one problem, but Mr. Orndorff said he believed his staff has done well with only one experienced employe. Mrs. Grace Wilson, chief clerk, is the only holdover from the office of former Collector J. Wallace Close.

The scouts and their leader spent a night in the Koshare Indian Kiva before boarding a train for Philmont Ranch.

After arriving at the camp site, the group underwent a preparation period before departing on the 12 days of rugged outdoor living. They planned to tour the northern part of the 127,000 acre ranch, taking advantage of the program offered which includes gold panning, exploring ancient Indian ruins and trout fishing.

Explorers making the trip are Eric Sheetz, Buzz Vpdyke, Tom Forman, Roy Phillips, Doug Durst, Chris Franklin, Portee Welch and Harley Winer.

Judge Suggests Agreement On Sewage Dispute

Westernport May Be Enjoined

After a day-long hearing in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday, Associate Judge D. K. McLaughlin of Hagerstown suggested that three Westernport property owners and the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport get together and settle their disagreement over an alleged nuisance caused by the depositing of sewage on the complainants' property.

Judge McLaughlin informed the parties to the dispute that he would retain jurisdiction and hoped that the Town of Westernport would do something to correct the situation. He added that an injunction will be granted if the parties cannot work out an agreement, but the town officials will be given a reasonable time to take the corrective measures.

Complaint Filed

The bill of complaint in this long-standing dispute was filed in equity May 9, 1958, by Jacob V. Wilson and Thelma R. Wilson, his wife, and Marshall Wilson, Jacob's brother, against the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport. They sought an injunction ordering the town officials to abate the nuisance caused by the flow of raw sewage along a run on their property.

There also was a plea in the bill of complaint for $25,000 damages.

Witnesses told the Hagerstown jurist, substituting for Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, that this dispute has continued at least four years. Some 250-feet of 48-inch drainage pipe has been on the Wlisons' property since 1955.

The town intended to install the pipe through the Wilson property, but the Wilsons refused to sign the necessary agreement. Jacob Wilson insisted that 500 feet of pipe be laid.

Objection To Line

Horace P. Whitworth Sr. and Horace P. Whitworth Jr., the attorneys for the town, said that an objection to this 48-inch line was raised by the State Health Department, which argued that storm and sanitary sewage should be separated.

The town attorneys also called attention to the fact that a sewage system for the entire town will soon be constructed under an agreement with the Upper Potomac River Commission. A draft of the proposed agreement between the commission and the town was delivered to a representative of the town on June 11.

The complaint concerns sewage which drains from Greene's Addition of Westernport down across the Wilson property and eventually into George's Creek.

Eight witnesses were heard at yesterday's court session. They included all three Wilsons, Philip Hartig, Frostburg engineer who did a sewage survey for the Town of Westernport in 1954; J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian with the Health Department here; Harry Richards, former Westernport councilman; Okey Michael, former Westernport mayor, and Ray Wilt, present mayor of Westernport.

Attorneys for the Wilsons are Thomas Lohr Richards, this city, and H. G. Shores of Keyser.

Corps Pleased With Condition Of Flood Job

Officials of the Corps of Engineers are well pleased with the way the City of Cumberland is maintaining its flood protection facilities.

All parts of the $18,100,000 system were found in excellent condition last night when they were inspected by P. H. Lowe, chief of Operations for the Washington District of the Corps of Engineers, and Rex E. Dexter, who served as resident engineer for the project.

They were accompanied by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who has been charged with the responsibility for maintaining the project, and Roy Maphis, assistant superintendent of the five-man maintenance crew.

The inspection, Mr. Nuzum reported, was detailed and included scrutiny of all of the levees, flood walls and pumping stations.

The Corps of Engineers officials, Mr. Nuzum said, came here at the city's request and are trying to help the city keep the project in top condition at minimum cost.

New Generation Visits Washington's Cabin Here

Over 300 visitors signed the register at George Washington's Cabin in Riverside Park last month, according to Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, member of the City Park Board.

Many of the visitors represent a new generation becoming familiar with the rich historical heritage of the Queen City—gateway to the West in Colonial times.

The visitors also include a sprinkling of older residents who stop at the park to pay another visit to the historic cabin which is being kept open on Wednesdays from 1 to 5 p. m. this summer by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

People come from near and far to visit the cabin, Mrs. Findlay said.

The nearest visitor, she said, was the late Dr. C. W. F. Snyder, whose home adjoined Riverside Park, and the most distant a Mrs. Aswell, from Capetown, Africa, who visited the historical shrine here several years ago.

The youngest, she said, was a five-day-old child and the oldest a 92-year-old area resident who spent an hour at the cabin, spitting tobacco juice over the stone fireplace.

Flags of Colonial America and the British Empire banners similar to those used when the cabin served as headquarters for Washington during early Colonial days, fly at the entrance of the cabin.

Today's American flag waves from the Riverside Park flagpole.

Mrs. Findlay said the rehabilitation of the cabin is complete except for new wiring and reported that this will be done before the Cresap Society holds its national convention here August 8.

It is owned by Mrs. Louise M. Hamilton, of Washington, D. C., who was taking the dog to her daughter.

When the dog answered to its name yesterday the boys caught it and turned it over to the B&O baggage station attendant who had the dog crated for its journey to Arizona.

A spokesman for the railroad said last night the dog will be placed on Train Number 9 which will leave here about 6 p. m. today.

LaVale Voters Must Register By July 18

Area Referendum Scheduled Aug. 18

Residents of LaVale were reminded yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors that they have only 10 more working days in which to register so they may vote August 18 on the proposed LaVale fire tax.

During June comparatively few LaVale residents were numbered among the 28 new registrants.

The total number of registered voters as of July 1 was 37,378. Included were 36,994 white persons, 383 Negroes and one person of Oriental extraction. There were 21,116 Republicans and 15,992 Democrats registered at the end of June.

June registrants signed up at the Court House by John R. Kelly, Democrat registrar, and Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar, included 15 Republicans and 13 Republicans. Offsetting the new registrants were 39 removals. Thirty-five were removed because of death. They included 18 Democrats and 17 Republicans. Four others were removed at their own request that they might register elsewhere.

Three other voters changed their political affiliation from Republican to Democrat in June. Twelve others transferred from one district or precinct to another and five others changed their name or address only.

During June only three LaVale residents registered. Two others transferred to District 29 in LaVale. Yesterday, two more LaVale residents registered to vote.

The office of the Board of Election Supervisors in the Court House basement is open for registration from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturdays. However, Saturday, July 18, 30 days before the special referendum, is the last day for residents of the LaVale area served by the Volunteer Fire Department to register or transfer their registration to the affected district.

A fire tax not to exceed 10 cents on each $100 of assessable property is authorized by House Bill 336, passed at the last session of the General Assembly in Annapolis. This will become effective if approved by a majority of those voting in the special referendum August 18.

Both youths were committed to the County Jail in default of bond.

City Police arrested the two youths early Sunday morning in connection with the theft of eight cases of soup valued at $35.20 from the warehouse of H. E. Douglass on Springdale Street.

The case first developed when City Police received word the two youths were attempting to sell the soup in South Cumberland. Following their arrest, the two youths reportedly admitted selling four cases for $8 and four cases for $10. The food was recovered by the police.

Tax Collections Now Approach $3 Million Level

Four Per Cent Discount Allowed

Allegany County taxpayers have paid nearly $3,000,000 in county and state real estate taxes since the bills were mailed out shortly before May 30, County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff reported yesterday.

Collections at the Court House have tapered off considerably since the arrival of July. This month, the discount on county taxes is four per cent compared with five per cent in June. In August it drops to three per cent. Interest will be charged beginning September 1.

Mr. Orndorff, who began his duties April 7, is Allegany County's first county-wide tax collector. Previously the county was divided into three tax collection districts.

Consolidation of all of the tax collection duties in the single office have crowded the facilities, according to Mr. Orndorff. There is insufficient storage space for one thing.

The collector and his assistants also found difficulty in serving the heavy mob of last minute taxpayers in June.

Inexperience was one problem, but Mr. Orndorff said he believed his staff has done well with only one experienced employe. Mrs. Grace Wilson, chief clerk, is the only holdover from the office of former Collector J. Wallace Close.

After arriving at the camp site, the group underwent a preparation period before departing on the 12 days of rugged outdoor living.
